Reloading from experience.

The Case. All of our plastic shotshell cases now feature one piece super-strong integral construction, and some shooters claim more reloads than from any other cartridge available in Australia. Constant in dimension, they are carefully manufactured for trouble-free shooting in all weather conditions. The Monowad. An inbuilt cushion that tames the recoil yet delivers the power. A carefully designed skirt seals the gases for maximum energy and a shot collar protects the shot and prevents pellet distortion giving, even consistent patterns every time.

The Brass Head. All of our cartridges now feature brass heads made to exacting specifications to ensure trouble-free shooting and really smooth reloading.

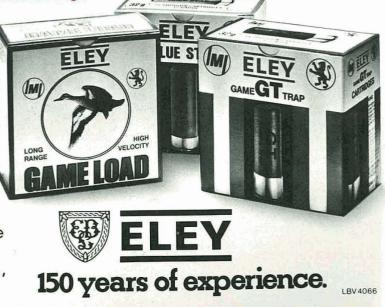

The Crimp. The cartridge crimp with the memory. Specially designed to open freely on firing, but close securely like a factory loaded crimp after reloading. Our eight star crimp design ensures no pattern distortions. The Powder. World-famous Nobel flake powder, used in more cartridges in Australia than any other powder. It is carefully selected and blended for the Eley range of cartridges to deliver the smooth crisp power demanded by Australian shooters.

The Shot. The Eley world renowned chilled shot formula guarantees hardness, roundness, and pattern density to give maximum cartridge performance. The Primer. The key component in Eley cartridges – our primers provide the right ignition for low pressure yet maximum velocity.

Reload with Eley components and you take advantage of 150 years experience in the design and manufacture of fine cartridges.

All of our components are made to match each other with precision, instead of being a jumble of various pedigrees. And our control during manufacture shows up on shot after shot consistency, where it counts.

The Australian Olympic Federation Marketing Program

The 1980 Olympic Games mark the start of a new venture for the Australian Olympic Federation.

For the first time in its history, the AOF has undertaken not only to send its team to the Olympic Games, but also to assist financially AOF Secretary-General, Mr Julius Patching, said that the present estimates for sending the team to the Olympics would be more than $1 million, while another $1 million would be necessary for their preparation. This includes training, national and international competition.

In order to meet these objectives, the AOF is launching the first stage of an ambitious and far-reaching campaign to ensure the strongest possible teams can be sent.

Shell Australia have initially provided $150,000 to enable the AOF to employ International Sports Marketing to conduct a marketing and merchandising program.

Shell Australia were the official sponsors of the 1976 Olympic team. The company provided $120,000 to help in raising the $800,000 necessary to send the team to Innsbruck and Montreal.

But while sponsorship is vital, the philosophy of the AOF is selfhelp, with each sport contributing in every possible way.

Through this aim of encouraging sports to help themselves, the AOF believes it has a strong case also for Government interest and support.

"The philosophy of part financing teams to go to the Olympic Games is not a new concept for Australia, as it is essential that the Government play a major role," Mr Patching said. "This ensures that our strongest possible contingent can be sent and that we can continue to take a major part in the Games.

"We are confident of this program's success which takes sports sponsorship to its maximum level of involvement."

"We are grateful to Shell for making this professional approach possible. We now look to the more marketing-oriented companies to take up the initiative in developing programs with the Australian Olympic Federation," Mr Patching said.

In the present economic climate, the AOF felt it was not sufficient to rely solely on traditional corporate generosity. They would therefore look at means of returning benefits to companies interested in supporting the AOF. During the lead-up to the 1980 Olympic Games, companies will be allowed to promote, advertise and become involved with the AOF in marketing and merchandising programs. This will partly include the "selling" of an Australian Olympic symbol and materials and goods associated with the Games.

Marketing rights will vary on an individual basis relative to the

A review board will finalise and approve all arrangements and licensing according to established criteria regarding the suitability and quality of products or services as well as the reputation and de-pendability of applicant companies.

Talk About TRAVEL

Many things have happened in the travel field since the last report. Firstly, prices for New Zealand groups have in some cases, been increased marginally due to a change of fare structure. This is due to Airline ticketing deadlines and in no way reflects on Jetset Tours. Judging by the number of bookings received there will be a real "home town" atmosphere in Christchurch for the duration of the New Zealand National Championships.

Moving now to the A.C.T.A. -- Jetset Tour to North America ac-commodation arrangements in Dayton, Ohio, have now been completed and enquiries are already rolling into the National Office. Can you imagine what it must be like to compete on a shooting ground with over 80 D.T.L. installations? Come and enjoy the experience. Providing sufficient numbers are achieved, the tour will be professionally escorted and is the chance of a lifetime for many of our members to see "the home of the shooting".

One of Australia's oldest shooters - Clive Evans of Warwick, Queensland, showed his form recently at a night shoot held by the Warwick Gun Club. Clive turned in a very creditable 27-30 at the sweepstake program.

Evans is well known throughout the Eastern States by our older shooters and carried the nickname of "The Deathadder" in his early shooting years because of his speed when in top form.

He shot his first clay targets in 1920 after returning from the 1st War, seeing active service in Artillery. He reached his peak during the mid 30's and won the Southern Hemisphere Centenary Clay Target Championships in Melbourne in 1934. Two weeks later he came 2nd in the Centenary Live Pigeon event behind Luke Hughes, narrowly missing a unique double. Jack Sutherland (Calrossie) was also shooting there, both Sutherland and Hughes were well known I.C.I. representative of the time.

Evans shot in the World Pigeon Championship in Brussels in 1935, finishing well up in the field. During this period he was back marker at the Brisbane Gun Club (pigeons), shooting off 31 yard handicap. Most of his best shooting was done with an L. C. Smith Double Barrel, which has now been passed on to his grandson.

Clive Evans, now in his 90th year is remarkably active and plays golf regularly, having taken the game up only about four years ago when he retired from his property and now resides in the Warwick City.

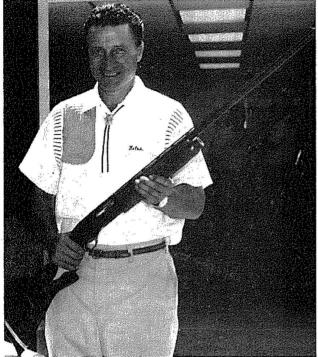

He has won too many Championships in live pigeon and clay target and rifle shooting to enumerate and in fact won a Single Barrel Championship only three years ago which indicates that the sport of Clay Target shooting is certainly one of the few that one can remain active in over a life-time and still be competitive.

TRAPSHOOTING with Elgin Gates

The author, Elgin Gates.

Shotgun choke is sometimes a misunderstood subject. In brief, the choke principal was discovered about 90 years ago in America by Fred Kimble, a professional duck hunter. The English also claim the bongur as undoubtedly do the French. Russians and Chinese.

honour as undoubtedly do the French, Russians and Chinese. Choke consists merely of a constriction at or near the muzzle end of the barrel that tends to condense, or hold together momentarily, and in such a manner that their final flight is affected, the mass of pellets a shotgun fires.

Simplest of all chokes, often used on inexpensive guns is the swaged choke. On such barrels a taper of extra metal is left on the outside muzzle contours, to be transferred to the inside of the barrel in order to create a constricting taper inside the bore by a multiple-hammering or cold-forming process known as swaging.

Most shotguns are choked by reaming away excess metal left inside the barrel tube after the drilling process, until the major part of the bore, from the chamber and forcing cone forward, is standard bore diameter. Less metal is reamed away at the muzzle section, in an area from  $1\frac{1}{2}$  to  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches back from the muzzle, to leave a tapering or conical constriction of the amount and type desired for a given effect on the shot.

This choking cone may end at the muzzle opening, or may be followed by a parallel or flat section of from  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1 inch where the inside diameter is constantly equal to that of the greatest point of constriction; or may be followed (like Winchester Skeet and several foreign chokes) by  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1" or slightly flating bore.

foreign chokes) by  $\frac{1}{2}$ " to 1" or slightly flaring bore. However achieved, choke directly affects the effective range and pattern of a shotgun by control of the pellet spread.

In trapshooting the old-timers used the tightest choke they could find, reasoning that the relatively small target could "get through" anything less than a full choke pattern.

The habit was hung on to the point that even today, should anyone mention using less than a full choke, he is looked at with amusement or regarded as a likely candidate for the booby hatch.

And yet, one of the best kept secrets in American trapshooting circles is the fact that many of the top shooters use modified chokes at the 27 yard line and with remarkable success.

The one thing that made this possible — the same thing that virtually obsoleted all the shotgun ballistics tables (including the pattern percentages listed in the choke table above) is the plastic wad or, as it is sometimes called, the plastic shot protector, which virtually eliminates deformed pellets from the pattern.

virtually eliminates deformed pellets from the pattern. Full choke shotguns that used to shoot, say, a 70% pattern with the old style cartridges, may now throw an 85% pattern using the plastic wad. The pattern is so tight it makes 16 yard or closer shooting almost like using a rifle. You have to be dead on the target. There is little margin for even a slight error.

To oversimplify, the plastic shot protector wad gives the equivalent of a full choke pattern at 27 yards using a shotgun with a modified choke. Perhaps not every gun will do this, but many will.

How often have you heard someone tell, with surprise, about how they could shoot better and hit more targets at, say, 16 to 20 yards than they could at 12 to 15 yards. At 12 yards a full choke pattern is extremely tight at the distance the target is broken.

extremely tight at the distance the target is broken. During tests made by Winchester a few years back, from 16 yards, it was determined that the average distance from the barrel of the gun to where the target was broken is about 35 yards.

At the beginning of my trapshooting career I was a firm believer in the full choke theory. How satisfying it was at 16 yards to obliterate a target into a puff of black smoke. But what about the missed targets? I also recall wishing the pattern was another foot larger in diameter. The answer was at hand with a modified choke, but that would have been going against all the experts. Eventually, instead of accepting all the orthodox techniques of Eventually, instead of accepting all the orthodox techniques of trapshooting with blind faith, I began to look for better ways to break targets. Today I use a modified choke barrel at 16 yards and also at the back handicap marks.

I may have lost the satisfaction of turning the target into an ink blob as with a full choke at 16 yards, but I'm breaking more targets with the modified choke from all marks. And when the smoke clears away, it's the final score on the board that counts.

Is it at your club?

The replica of the Great Britain and Ireland Trophy, including its display case, has gone missing. In fact, the Editor has no idea of its last known location.

The Great Britain and Ireland Trophy was donated to the A.C.T.A. by the Clay Pigeon Shooting Association of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland in recognition of the great contribution made by Australians to the "War Effort" by sending food parcels to the British Isles during World War II.

The Trophy is presented to the winning State in the Interstate Trap Teams' Match each year, and the replica is to be displayed at the host Club.

As the origin of this trophy goes back to 1946, it would be disappointing to have to admit its loss. Would all Clubs please check their trophy cabinets in the hope that someone can turn up some helpful information.

AUSTRALIAN CLAY TARGET SHOOTING NEWS

SHOTSHELL RELOADING PART 6: Ballistics II by PAT BROWNE

For six months now, we have been discussing in some detail the reloading of shotshells. In this concluding section, we are going to look at patterns. Yes! Patterns, how to pattern a shell, but more importantly how to evaluate that pattern.

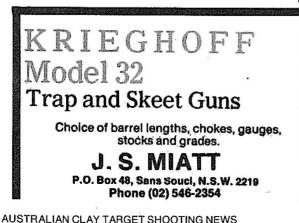

Before we start, let's get one thing straight. Patterning a shotshell is no slap dash thing like hanging a piece of newspaper on a fence and from an undetermined distance firing an offhand shot at it and counting the pellet holes. No! my friend, although we deal in averages patterning is a very precise thing, and in this respect, we come back to a word that has been used a lot in this series - consistency. You will understand why as we delve into the technique of conducting correct pattern testing. However, before we get to the technique it would be as well if we looked at what we are actually looking for in the way of pattern performance. It is all well and good to have a big booming shell that seems to be the goods but does it really give you the goods out there where it matters. It is no good having the hottest shell around if you blow your pellets all over the sky. Also, it is not very sensible to load down to the stage where you might just as well be using a rifle, your pattern is so tight. So, what are we aiming for? In a nutshell, we are looking for consistent, sensible patterns from the particular gun in use to do the job required. You notice that we now bring the gun into the discussion: the reason is, of course, simply that it is the guncartridge combination that produces the pattern. Cartridges themselves do not produce patterns neither do guns, it is the combination of the two that we are looking at.

Now, let us look at patterns and how we measure them and how they relate to the gun. The generally accepted pattern performance index is a percentage. You will, of course, have heard gunners talking about such and such a barrel producing a 65% pattern or some such figure. What he is referring to is a relative figure of the number of pellets actually his shotshell, compared to the number that the particular gun puts into a 30" circle at 40 yards, referred to as a percentage. Here, then, is your constant — the 30" circle and the 40 yards, and when we talk about patterns, we are talking about this constant. There is one minor variation on this theme and this is system used by some skeet gunners who pattern their gun using the constant of a 36" circle at 30 yards. The reason for this is that they are looking for performance figures for open bored guns at shorter ranges, in other words, a specialised weapon.

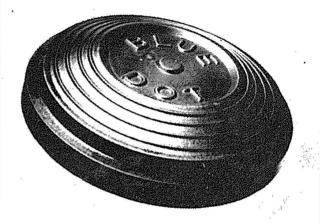

CHOKES - The subject of chokes on shotguns is one dear to my heart but I will not bore you at this stage with a lot of technical mumbo jumbo but we do need to delve into the subject a little.

Chokes affect patterns and as such, we need to know how and why. Put very simply, choke is a constriction at the muzzle of the gun that holds the pattern together longer, the more choke the tighter the pattern. This can be a good or bad thing which is again another subject but suffice to say here most of us are over-choked to blazes, and we will discuss this at a later date. Choke in shotguns in Australia is marked on guns in different ways, and depends on the origin of the gun. The most common grades of choke are as follows: --

True Cylinder, Cylinder, Improved cylinder, quarter choke

Modified, half choke

Improved Modified three-quarter choke

Full choke, Full.

It has been an accepted fact for many years that using the constant of the 30" circle and 40 yards the percentages that apply to standard chokes are as follows: --

Cylinder 40% Improved cylinder 50% Modified 60%

Improved modified 65% Full choke 70%.

But with modern shotshell which we have been discussing now for six months, practical experience has shown me that you can add up to 10% to these percentages, the reason being the improvement over the years of choking techniques and the humble plastic wad concentrator.

And so, now let us go through the steps necessary in conducting proper pattern tests. I use a system that is fairly sophisticated, but for a person that tests rarely, simpler methods can be used. Obviously, you need something to shoot at. Two things are suitable both entirely different. Firstly, there is the steel plate and secondly there is the sheet of paper. I use both, and both have their applications. When I have a lot of patterns to do, I use a steel plate. Method used is an follows. The plate is mounted upright and forty yards back I have a simple bench rest. The forty yards is very important and should be measured, not just paced out, and measured to where you stand or sit, not to the muzzle of the gun; a coating is painted onto the plate which incidentally, in my case, measures 6ft x 4ft. The coating I use is a mixture of Mill White, Machine oil and Kerosene and I apply it with a 12" paint roller. With the coating applied, test-ing commences. In the centre of the plate, I mark an aiming point. From a fouled barrel (that is one that has previously fired), careful aim is taken at the aiming point and the cartridge fired. The resulting pattern can be dealt with at this stage in two different ways. Firstly, you can deal with it on the spot, but this can be very time consuming. My method is to attach an identification plate to the pattern and then photograph it. This method speeds up the operation and allows me to study the patterns at my leisure later, after they have been enlarged to 6" deep. This method also allows me to shoot a lot of patterns quickly and evaluate them later.

Using paper pattern sheets is an ideal way of conducting tests on a smaller scale and all the other principles apply as for the steel plate. The fact that you can take the pattern sheets home for evaluation is an advantage. Now, to the number of shells that need to be tested to give you an accurate result. In my opinion, the more the better. I test 10 in each case but I would not recommend any less than five. Another most important point whilst we are on the subject of accuracy is "pellet count." Do not rely on a theoretical pellet count for a given weight of shot. Pull a cartridge down and COUNT the pellets.

Now that you have or are going to pattern your favorite load, it is important that you know how to evaluate it. There have been many books written on patterns and it is not my intention to over simplify the subject. But there are some people that make a fetish of patterning and go to ridiculous lengths to prove a point. Patterns are an essential part of the reloader's testing requirements but please don't go overboard about them and please look at and evaluate them realistically. I hark back to the day I was talking to Susan Nattrass at the world moving target championships in Melbourne and I asked what choking she had in her Parrazi and what sort of patterns it threw. She politely informed me that she did not know what a choke was nor what a pattern was and all she did was put a cartridge in the gun, pull the trigger and watched the targets break. Over simplification? Perhaps, but if you have an inquiring mind, you will enjoy investigating the performance of YOUR gun - cartridge combinations.

So, you have a pattern in front of you for evaluation, here is how you go about it. Let us take a paper pattern that you have shot. , Spread it out on the floor and with a felt tipped pen mark ALL the pellet holes. Now, and this is most important, IGNORING the aiming mark, judge by eye the largest concentration of pellet holes and draw your 30" circle around these holes. Count the number of pellets that have penetrated the circle and compare this number with the actual pellet count you have already made. Simple mathematics gives you your percentage. Commonsense plays a big part in judging patterns. You will notice if you look at a lot of them that no two are the same. Obvious things you will notice that are bad news are extreme patchiness, balling of shot, over concentration in the centre etc. etc. Experience will soon teach you what to look for. We can take patterning much further than this, many have and many do, but this is a subject that we will pursue at a later date. The thing to remember is that shotgun patterns are very mysterious things and I could do no better than quote to you a passage from an excellent book which, to my mind, sums up the whole subject. The book is titled "The mysteries of shotgun patterns" by Oberfell and Thompson, and reads as follows:

"From a practical viewpoint, the patchiness of any given load at 40 yards is the most important attribute of your gun, and is all you need to know to estimate the performance which the gun will give on game. IT IS NOT THE NUMBER OF PELLETS IN A PATTERN, BUT THE EVENNESS WITH WHICH THEY ARE SPACED THAT COUNTS."

Truer words were never spoken!

CONCLUSION — We have now travelled in fairly basic terms the whole distance as far as shotshell reloading is concerned. On related subjects, we will, in the future, look at them in more detail, but for the moment "Thank You" for your letters and your encauragement. You, the reloaders of Australia, have obviously wanted this series judging from the response.

The National President and his Executive Committee is most appreciative of the effort shown by the Brisbane Gun Club in producing such a healthy financial result. The surplus was due in no small part to many hundreds of hours of VOLUNTARY work by the host Club members.

ROCKHAMPTON GUN CLUB (Q'LD) - C.T.S.N. has received advice of a change of secretary at this Club. The new Secretary is Mr D. Robinson of P.O. Box 440, Nth Rockhampton, 4701.

ARARAT GUN CLUB (VIC) -- Club Secretary Bill Harris has changed his address and can now be found at 331 Barkly Street, Ararat, 3377. This Club recently acted as host for the Annual Meeting of the South West Zone within the Victorian Clay Target Association, and a report of that meeting appears elsewhere.

GULGONG CLUB (N.S.W.) - This Club conducted its Annual Meeting recently and the following Office Bearers were elected for 1978. President Noel McIntosh; Sec/Treas Pauline McIntosh, Vice-President Colin Dorman, Publicity Officer C. Atkins. It is of interest to note that more and more Clubs are appointing Publicity Officers and this move ensures that Clubs get greater exposure both to the Community in their immediate geographic area and Nationally through C.T.S.N.

BAIRNSDALE FIELD SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION (Vic) --Most of our readers will be aware that Eastern Victoria recently suffered extensive disastrous bush fires. Bairnsdale Field Sportsmen's Association has felt the impact to a much greater extent than most because of the serious effect. In the fire Peter Patterson, eldest son of Mr Jim Patterson was fatally burnt. Jim was, when younger, an active A.C.T.A. shooter although he has now retired (at the age of 80 odd) due mainly to poor eyesight. Peter had not been an A.C.T.A. member.

Club President John Leaudoux was very seriously burnt and is currently in the Royal Melbourne Hospital for skin grafts -- he is expected to be there for some weeks. Meanwhile, his father, George Leadoux is in Bairnsdale Hospital suffering burns and is expected to remain in hospital for a further two to three weeks.

The fire started a mile or so north west of the Bairnsdale Gun Club premises on the Princes Highway and fanned by 40 miles per hour northerly winds (in a temperature of over 40 degrees C.) quickly crossed the main road towards the Club House. Thanks to previous fire prevention works, firemen, Club members and a C.R.B. grader, the Club House was saved.

The Bairnsdale Gun Club is the venue for the next round of the South East Teams Premiership to be conducted on the 4th and 5th February and it is to the Club's credit that the grounds will be made ready in time, following such a disastrous experience. The National President, Ern Hawkins and his Executive Committee join the Editorial staff of C.T.S.N. in extending to those who suffered such serious personal loss in the fire. their sincere sympathies.

BLACKALL GUN CLUB (Q'ld) - At the recent Annual General Meeting of this Club Mr Lang Hardwick was elected to the position. of President, Mr G. Durre is Vice-President and Mrs M. Durre of the Police Station, Blackall 4723 is Secretary.

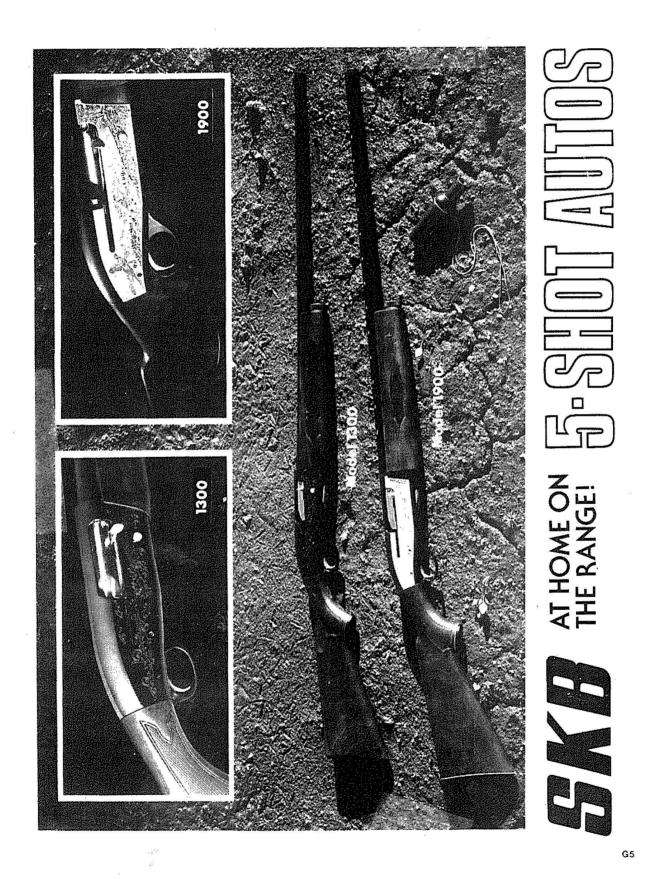

EDGEHILL GUN CLUB (W.A.) - The Annual General Meeting of this Club has now been held and resulted in the following Office Bearers being elected: President J. Fry, Secretary G. J. Poller, while the Club Captain is L. Ferris.

The Edgehill Gun Club in conjunction with Bunbury Skeet Club will conduct the 1978 "Blue Manna Carnival" on Saturday 8th and Sunday 9th April, commencing at 9 a.m. both days. The program includes the W.A. Double Barrel Championship and the W.A. Deauville Doubles Championship. In addition, special provision has been made for Juniors who will be offered nominations in each event at half the advertised fee. This program has become a traditional feature of the Western Australian Clay Target scene and is sure to get its usual strong support. The full program is advertised elsewhere in this issue.

SOUTH WEST ZONE - VICTORIAN C.T.A. - At the Annual General Meeting of the S.W. Zone held at Ararat Gun Club on Sunday 15th January the following Executive was elected: President Mr A. McSween (Warrnambool Gun Club), Vice-President Mr J. Bull (Goroke Gun Club), Secretary Mr T. Nash (Geelong Gun Club), Treasurer Mr T. Smith (Hamilton Gun Club), Assistant-Secretary Miss K. Williams (Corio Bay Gun Club). Would Delegates representing Clubs in the Zone please note the next meeting of the South West Zone will be held at the Colac Gun Club on Saturday April 1st. The meeting will be preceded by a shooting program conducted by Colac Gun Club -- the shooting ground is located on the Colac Race Course.

BOORT GUN CLUB (Vic) - Boort Gun Club is in the process of installing a new electric trap and plans indicate that a second trap will be installed in time for the March program. This is further evidence of the growth of Clay Target shooting and the Club is to be commended for its foresight.

MILDURA CLAY TARGET GUN CLUB (Vic) -- Due to a serious omission by C.T.S.N. Editor, the program for the traditional Mildura Clay Target Gun Club Easter Carnival was omitted from the February issue of the magazine. We regret this oversight and draw to readers' attention the fact that the Carnival will again be held in 1978 and the full program is listed on page 57. The highlight of the Carnival of course is the social activity that is integrated with the shooting program and visitors are assured of a wonderful time. Club President Gordon Wakefield together with Club Secretary Laurie Connors and their willing band of helpers leave no stone unturned to make sure that the "paying customers" go away happy.

FRANCHI FIRES A BARRAGE AIMING THIS BARRAGE AT THE TRAPSHOOTING MARKET, FRANCHI HAVE COME TO THE FORE WITH A SPECIALIST GUN THAT SEEMS TO HAVE THE GOODS... PAT BROWNE TAKES A LOOK AT IT...

The front end has a real distinctive look with the bottom barrel retaining collar, big 'raybar' front bead and distinctive red stripe down the rib.

It was over lunch with Don Hobill and George Cobbin that I first learnt of the existence of the Franchi 'Barrage'. These two gentlemen of Eley Ammunition were most enthused over the introduction of this specialist trap and trench gun to the Australian market. Eley Ammunition, formerly IMI Aust. Ltd., has been handling the Franchi range of smoothbores in this country for nigh on ten years but it has only been bringing in the more mundane lines that appeal to the mass market.

It is a fact of life that one does not see too many Franchi guns used over the traps. This in itself is an interesting thing, as the general run of Franchi U/O's are good guns. Perhaps it was a lack of promotion that has seen the better known trap guns from the Brescia Valley gain the upper hand.

Franchi have always made good guns, good honest hard working guns that range from the long recoil and gas operated autoloaders right through to the most superb side by side doubles that you will ever see. I have seen a few in my shooting lifetime and can attest to their finish, handling qualities and superb quality of workmanship. The Franchi Barrage then has a long history behind it, and to my way of thinking is the first really specialist gun that Franchi has produced for a specific market. This market, before we kid ourselves that we have one in

This market, before we kid ourselves that we have one in Australia — we just do not have the shooting population — is the very lucrative United States Trapshooting market. I say this, in no way being derogatory in so far as the Australian trapshooting scene is concerned but it is a fact of life that America has 6,000,000 shooters, we have 10,000!

In this context then we must look at the Barrage as a specialist trap gun. The American game is not quite as severe as ours, angles are not as wide and target speed is slower. But in most respects the game is very similar and so the Barrage with some slight modifications suits our trapshooting scene admirably. It is obvious that the Franchi designers and engineers have had a close look at this scene when they researched the gun, rumour has it that they took six years and spent millions on the development. If so, they have done a good job because what we have to look at and test fire, I feel sure will become one of the classic trap guns in this country. said that shotgun design was a fully developed technology. What he meant was that the basic design of any shotgun action is prefixed by a technology that has developed the mechanical design to its ultimate in all types of double guns. With this, in some humility I must agree, most box lock and sidelock actions that we see these days (with very few exceptions) conform to well accepted designs developed by the English and European gunsmiths over the past couple of centuries. What is not a fully developed technology however is the applied principles of stock design, barrels, choking and ballistics. All these factors have some variables in them that allow the gun designer a degree of latitude and some allowance for flair in fitting up a gun for a specific purpose such as trapshooting.

Ivo Fabbri, one of Italy's most celebrated master gunsmiths once

The trapshooting game has some features that allow the designer to get at a gun and improve its performance. Essentially, you are always shooting at a rising target, so you need a gun that shoots high, some vertical built in lead if you like. To this end most specialist trap guns have straight stocks and high ribs. The stock on the test Barrage we will go into later but the rib we will look at now. On this gun it stands a full 10 mm above the top barrel, it is 10 mm wide and has a centre groove 2 mm wide right down the full length of the rib. It has a circular milled anti glare pattern milled into it and the 2 mm grove is coloured a bright fluorescent red and sports a 4 mm dia x 12 mm long 'raybar' front bead. Whilst one can argue about so much paraphernalia on a rib I was most surprised at how one became accustomed to using it in firing tests. My immediate reaction when I first saw the red stripe was that it would be a distraction, but it was not so. Gun alignment was simple and almost foolproof with the rib and the little bit of red seen was not a distraction when pointing out targets.

The biggest bonus however with the high rib is the lowering of the barrels on the frame. Gun designers have long known that the lower you can get the barrels within the limits of the action design of the under and over, the less muzzle whip and apparent recoil sensation there is. Both these features are important in the trap gun and the trench gun. The Barrage takes full advantage of the high rib in lowering the barrels and in firing tests the recoil sensation and the muzzle whip tendency were some of the best I have encountered. The reason for this is that in top trapshooting, gun control is most important in the delivering of the second shot. It is most important in double barrel shooting 'down the line' where the old adage of 'second barrels win championships' applies, and vital in double rise and trench shooting.

The next thing that the gun designer has to take into consideration is that trapshooters shoot a lot of cartridges and shoot them quickly. Therefore guns get hot, and heat causes problems. Heat haze on the the top of the barrels can give a false indication of target flight and in extreme cases can alter the point of impact due to uneven barrel expansion. The Barrage takes care of both of these problems in a very neat way. Firstly the high rib helps in the overcoming of the rib haze problems. There is a lot of metal to get hot but also a lot of cooling surface to dissipate the heat. The barrels are separated from muzzle to within 30 cm of the action face. This again gives more metal to air contact along the barrels from forend to muzzle for heat dissipation. The bottom barrel is completely free floating, in other words it can expand and contract independently of the top barrel. It is held in position at the muzzle by way of a close fitting sleeve attached to the top barrel and wrapped snugly around two thirds of the diameter of the bottom barrel. We can see this principle in the Kreighoff and the Remington 3200 in different forms but for sheer simplicity, the Barrage has the answer to this problem.

Still with the barrels, provision has been made for the trapshooters habit of forever fiddling with choking. The 76 cm barrels are chrome plated except for the choke. Choke restriction is the last 80 mm of the barrels and this is not chromed to allow easy alteration for those that wish to do so. From the box the test Barrage had choking of Improved modified/full, and this measured out at 28 and 36 points of choke respectively. This is what the book says it should be.

Let's now have a look at the stocking of the Barrage. From the box there are some strange features. Before we look at stock dimensions perhaps it would be a good thing to examine again what the gun designers at Franchi had in mind when they set this gun up. I am led to believe that there will be several types of stock available with the Barrage, but one would have to be a veritable giant to shoot the one that we have for testing. The stock is big and beefy and semi finished. By this I mean that it is finished to a dull satin oiled finish which allows work to be done on stock fitting without too much trouble. When the stock dimensions are satisfactory the stock can then be finally finished the grain filled and the stock polished. The wood is fine close grained walnut and the checkering at 1 mm pitch is hand cut and very well finished. Checkering is borderless.

Grip diameter is 125 mm, this is a big handful, the average bloke is a lot more comfortable with a grip diameter of 120 mm to give good gun and trigger control. This is the first stock dimension change that would be required. Drop at comb at 30 mm is far too high for the average gunner even for a high pointing trap gun. It is miles too high for a trench gun. So the next stock alteration would be to lower the drop at comb to 35 mm. Drop at heel is 36 mm -- again too high! This should be lowered to 40 mm for more comfort.

Length of pull is 366 mm which may be OK for a big bloke with long arms but for the average bloke it would need to be shortened to 362 mm or a little less. The most puzzling dimension however was the pitch. On a trap gun I like very little pitch down, most gunners are the same. On a 76 cm barralled gun perhaps 40 mm, but definitely no more than 50 mm.

Out of the box, the Barrage had a whopping 145 cm of down pitch. Why? I am at a loss to understand. However it is not a difficult thing to alter and so is not a major drawback. There is a deal of cast off in the stock, fully 5 mm aat the heel and considerably more at the toe. This is good for the right hander but deadly for the southpaw. I am led to believe that there will be left handed versions available which is a good thing. It is obvious that the Franchi designers have given this stock a lot of thought in shape but have deliberately left all the dimensions as large as practicable so as to allow the trap gunner the opportunity to finally finish the stock to his own likings. I can not, and will not argue with that.

Mechanically the gun is very soundly constructed. Of box lock design, the receiver is forged as a one piece unit and the machining is excellent. The design of the mechanics again is excellent with the trapshooter in mind. Triggers are inertia operated and all parts of the mechanism are easily accessible for routine maintenance. The chambers are of monobloc construction with the extractors let into the monobloc sides. Finish and fitting in this area are excellent.

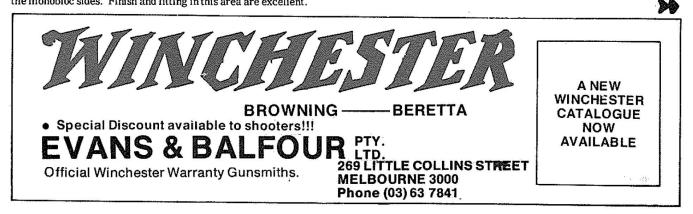

• The trigger assembly is very well designed. Here shown in the cocked situation. 1 are the firing pins, note the good angle of attack. 2 are the hammers, both cocked. 3 is the inertia block which on recoil will set the sear for the second barrel. The gun is not selective as is the norm in trap guns these days and so the trigger assembly is very uncluttered.

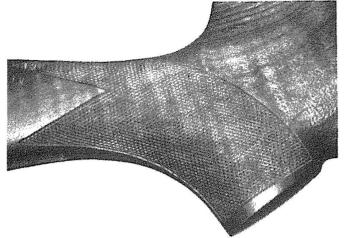

• The same thing with the bottom barrel fired. Note the coil springs for hammer power and the neat way the hammer fits the contour of the action when at rest.

Lock up is fairly conventional. A claw engages with the hinge pin at the knuckle and on closing the gun locks up by way of a substantial lump on the bottom of the monobloc with a recess in the action floor. A tang engages the bite in the lump to effect final lock up. The tang is conventional in that it retracts under the influence of the top level to open the gun. There has been a deal of hand fitting in the action of the test gun and so the metal to metal fitting is superb with no new gun stiffness evident.

I was most impressed with the ejector design. Based on using ejection hammers in the forend iron, the ejectors have really no mechanical effect during the firing cycle. The ejection cycle starts on the opening of the gun where the fired hammer trips a lever which in turn pushes the ejector trip rod protruding through each side of the knuckle, which in turn releases the sear to allow the jector hammer to strike the ejector to remove the fired shell. Ejection is selective and in firing tests proved to be remarkably crisp, even and consistent. The bonus of course is that there is no paraphernalia hanging on to the trigger mechanism to cause problems. Coming back to the triggers, let off was in the order of 2.5 kg for both barrels with no take up in the first barrel and very little in the second. Hammers are powered by coil springs, were shaped excellently and when fired their contour fitted very neatly into the rest position against the firing pins. These firing pins have an excellent angle of attack and are spring loaded. This in itself would not entirely eliminate primer drag as the hammers are not the rebounding type. But as the action cocks on opening by way of a single cocking lever running through the action floor, primer drag was not found to be a problem in firing tests.

Checkering and wood work were superb on the test gun.

Safety is in the conventional tang mounted position, it is not selective nor automatic and has provision for locking it in the fire position by means of a grub screw. This feature is highly regarded by trap gunners as it removes the sometimes traumatic loss of a target when some well meaning admirer of your gun pushes the safety on, and you forget to check. Whilst on the subject of traumatic experiences and safety, one design feature that I have always questioned on Franchi guns is the lack of an interceptor, which in simple terms prevents the gun being fired whilst the top level is pushed over. In the hands of an experienced shotgunner probably nothing would ever happen, but there is always a doubt in the back of my mind as to the consequences of an accidental firing with the gun unlocked.

I have mentioned the trigger pulls but more importantly the trigger shape needs some more discussion. On the American version the shape is branded 'ceiling swell' — one can presume it will be called  $\equiv 0$ the same on the Barrage. The trigger is shaped in such a way, that a long tapered top surface allows the accurate placement of the trigger finger each shot and by crickey it works! The trigger shape together with a flaired flange on the trigger guard makes for a very effective, well designed and comfortable trigger system.

The forend is well set up for a trap gun, it has a big hand filling shape, is not tapered and has deep finger grooves. Of necessity it is a little complicated in the hardware department having to house the ejection mechanism. This however is very neatly engineered and is easily removed for maintenance. An important design consideration, due to the amount of work a trap gun gets, is the facility for the easy replacement of the cocking tang in the forend iron.

At the pattern plate the Barrage returned remarkably good figures. With Special Trap 7's the I/M barrel returned consistent patterns of 68% whilst with Blue Star Trench we dropped a couple of points to 66%. These bottom barrel patterns were remarkably even which says something for the choking. Surprisingly the top barrel (Full) returned identical figures of 77% for both these cartridges with the Special Trap showing a slight amount of centre thickening, but not enough to cause alarm. As was to be expected the excessive amount of pitch in the gun (as mentioned earlier) caused both barrels to print very high, a whopping 60 cm high in fact. Also, as mentioned earlier this can be easily overcome by an alteration to the pitch of the gun.

In firing tests some 680 shotshells were fired through the Barrage with no misfires or malfunctions and no failures to eject, in fact the gun performed faultlessly.

• Inside the action. Lock up tang protrudes below the bottom firing pin. Hinge pin is easily removed for tightening the action. Round rod in action floor is the cocking rod.

• Ejection mechanism in the forend iron. Note how big the ejection hammers are and the coil springs that power them. The cocking tang in the centre is easily replaceable.

At the traps, the gun performed quite creditably when one considers the fullness of the stock dimensions and the high shooting tendencies. It is not a heavy gun by modern trap shooting standards, tipping the scales at 3.4 kg. Using normal trap fodder it had a very mild recoil sensation and very little muzzle whip. These points would improve quite a lot with a correctly fitted stock. The gun pointed precisely and was very well balanced. Over the trench it was a bit pokey, due again to the fullness of the stock dimensions. With these faster and multi angled, varying height targets you need a gun with a shorter length of pull and lower pointing characteristics to get the best scores. The Barrage has the potential to be top class trench gun with the required stock alterations.

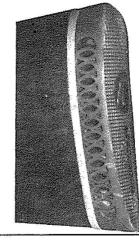

Presentation of the gun is superb. It comes with a genuine leather case and the gun packs neatly into its green plush lining. There is a Franchi badge and a book of instructions together with the guarantee. It is a long time since I have seen a gun presented for sale as well as this one. Overall then, one must say that the Franchi Barrage with the backing of Eley Ammunition will definitely take its place on the trapshooting scene in Australia. It is a very well designed trap gun. Perhaps it would be better to say that it is ya thoughtfully designed specialist gun. A word of warning though, don't expect to purchase one and tear out to the local gun club and start winning championships. Being a specialist gun, the Barrage will need some tuning in the stock department to realise its full potential. The fact that the potential is there, of this there is no doubt, but like all great trap guns you need to work on them to get the results.

It is a well known fact that trap and trench shooting in Australia have become very specialised in both technique and equipment. On the equipment side the Franchi Barrage adds another fine gun to the range of equipment available.

INTERNATIONAL SHOOTING SCENE

The exciting news on the International scene during March relates to the South Pacific Moving Target Championships, which will be conducted at Melbourne Gun Club Lilydale (Trap and Skeet section) and the S.S.A.A. Range at Springvale (Running Boar sec'ion). These events will be conducted during the Easter period with official practice commencing on Wednesday 22nd March. Entries have already been received from New Zealand and Indonesia and it is contemplated that further International entries will arrive prior to the event. The full program for the match is published elsewhere in this issue and a warm invitation is extended to all shooters in Australia to attend this match of International standing. At this stage Australian entries will be limited to those who receive an invitation, but the invitation list will be fairly extensive as the match is being used as the final qualifying round to assist in selection teams to represent Australia at both the Commonwealth Games at Edmonton, Canada, and the World Championships in Seoul, Korea, later in the year. Because the last of the preliminary qualifying rounds will not be completed until the 5th March (A.C.T. International Gun Club, Canberra) it will be the 7th or 8th March before the invitations are issued, therefore leaving the invitees little time to plan. Therefore this opportunity is taken to suggest to all those shooters who have already completed sufficient qualifying targets to assume that an invitation will be extended. In other words KEEP YOUR EASTER FREE!

COMMUNICATIONS

It is disappointing to report that despite pleas to all Clubs with International type facilities to provide information for inclusion in this column very little response has been received. There must be some news which I.S.U. type shooters wish to have spread around the Continent and this column provides an ideal opportunity for easy distribution. It is available at any time and we look forward to seeing increased usage being made of the opportunity.

GOOD NEWS!

There are two pieces of very good news to include in this month's News. The first is that Terry Rumbel at a recent match at Taree-Wingham Gun Club in Northern N.S.W. shot what is thought to be an Australian resident record score of 195-200 in Olympic Trench. This performance provides tangible evidence of the sort of benefits shooters are obtaining by competing overseas — it will be remembered that Terry Rumbel was a member of the recent Australian Team which competed in the World Championships at Antibes, France. His performance at Taree-Wingham puts him in world standard and experienced observers have commented that his technique can be further developed yet. Congratulations Terry!

Terry Rumbel, smiling after shooting 195/200 at Taree-Wingham.

The second piece of good news relates to a donation of $1000 from Winchester Australia Pty. Ltd., the $1000 being paid direct to the I.S.U. Travel Fund and represents a donation to the Travel Fund by every shooter who has participated in the Winchester Tournament. The donation is the result of the overwhelming support shooters have given to the Winchester Tournament. We are most appreciative for this generous contribution.

QUALIFYING SCORES - 1978 TEAM SELECTIONS

Apart from the tremendous score put up by Terry Rumbel of 195-200 (reported above) there have been a number of other very creditable performances registered with the National Office. These include a 185 by Jim Finnis of Mildura Gun Club who produced his score at International Gun Club S.A. on 20th and 21st January; a 180-200 by Arthur Kenna at the first official Trench match conducted by Townsville Gun Club on 30th and 31st December; a 186-200 by John Porter at Brisbane Gun Club on 14th and 15th January; a 190 by Neil Berry at Melbourne Gun Club on 21st and 22nd January; a 191-200 by Ken Lowry, also at Melbourne on 21st and 22nd January; John Green of Korumburra recorded a score of 189-200 at the same match. Turning now to skeet, excellent performances have been recorded by Alex Crikis with 184-200, John Summers with a 181-200, Don Jones (Hobart) with 190-200, Peter Avison (Melbourne) 186-200 and Ian Hale with 181-200. There is no doubt that there is greater enthusiasm being shown in seeking places in the 1978 teams than we have ever seen before, and the standard is improving all the time. Those who say that International competition is not warranted perhaps will have trouble disputing this evidence.

COMMONWEALTH GAMES 1982 - BRISBANE

Plans are already being formulated to conduct the shooting events for the 1982 Commonwealth Games at the Belmont Complex, Brisbane. Readers will recall that this is the ground on which the Australian Clay Target Association conducted its 1977 National Championships, i.e. the home of Brisbane Gun Club. Shooting disciplines to be included on the Commonwealth Games program are:

(a) Small Bore Rifle Shooting.

- (b) Pistol Shooting
- (c) Clay Target Shooting.
- (d) Full Bore Rifle Shooting.

Ron Porter, a member of our National Executive is the A.C.T.A's representative on the Co-ordinating Committee and Mr Eric Bubb representing the Queensland Rifle Association is the Shooting Sports Delegate on the Sports Technical Committee which has been created to ensure the technical standards for the 1982 Commonwealth Games are of the highest order.

Mr Bubb is one of the best known administrators of Full Bore Shooting in Australia and is presently the Treasurer of the Queensland Rifle Association. He has been connected with shooting sports siuce 1947 and was Small Bore Champion of Queensland in the years 1958, 1959 and 1960. More recently, he has developed into one of Australia's top coaches and today with Eric Thompson of Tasmania, stands supreme in the field of coaching in Full Bore Rifle Shooting. With Eric Bubb looking after the total shooting interest and Ron Porter looking after the Australian Clay Target Association's particular requirements, there is no doubt that the Belmont Complex, south of Brisbane, will become one of the best shooting grounds in the world.

$20 "International Club" Fee

There appears to be some confusion over the nature of this fee, and the purpose to which the proceeds are put. The fee was introduced in November 1976 to provide an opportunity for those of our members who have a direct interest in Trench or I.S.U. Skeet shooting to assist in sending Australian teams overseas. By paying an extra amount of $20 with their A.C.T.A. annual Registration Fee, these shooters were playing their part in improving the standards of International shooting in Australia.

The money collected in this way is paid into the I.S.U. Travel Fund -- a fund that is completely separate from A.C.T.A. moneys. This account is administered by the I.S.U. Sub-committee and is only used to support I.S.U. International type competition.

Because of the use to which the money is put, it is considered reasonable to expect that shooters who are endeavouring to secure a place in International teams should be amongst the first to pay the $20. It can be paid to Club Secretaries and included with remittances to the A.C.T.A. office (please provide details where this fee is being sent to us).

HUNTER TRAINING — Important Community Service

Last October the Wagga Branch of the N.S.W. Field & Game Association, conducted a Hunter Training and Firearms Safety Instructional Course. Enrolments for the course were drawn from all over N.S.W. and were selected on the basis that they could impart their new-found knowledge to other groups in the community. The results of the course were so encouraging that the Organisers have now decided to run a second course, this one to be conducted on the 3rd, 4th and 5th March, 1978. As evidence of the growing cooperation between the Field & Game Association and the A.C.T.A., Zone Coaching Director Mr "Barney" Rooke has been asked to assist with lecturing and will be chairing a session on Saturday afternoon — the session will be titled "Reloading; Cleaning and Storage of Firearms." Then on Sunday 5th March "Barney" Rooke will assist in the practical part of the course which will run from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on the Simulated Field Range operated by the Wagga Branch of the N.S.W. Field & Game Association.

At the conclusion of the course an examination is conducted and Certificates are issued to those who pass. Lecturers have been drawn from the National Parks and Wildlife Service, New South Wales Police Department, the Australian Army Recruit Training Battalion at Kapooka, the Wagga Ambulance Service, The Amateur Pistol Shooting Union of Australia, the N.S.W. Small Bore Rifle Association and the A.C.T.A. It will be seen that this is a genuine integrated and fully co-ordinated program and we wish the Organisers every success. Any further enquiries can be directed to Mr Tony Prowse, Training Co-ordinator, P.O. Box 29, Kooringal, 2650.

An Old Clay-Buster's Proverb — An optimist says "The bottle is half-full," whereas a pessimist says "The bottle is halfempty!"

Firearms dealer and international clay target shooter, apiarist and overseas marketer of Royal Jelly, but first and foremost a life assurance salesman, that's the irrepressible Rex Peacock...

Our man in Kerang

 Rex Peacock fires a muzzle-loader which was used by the rebels at Eureka Stockade.

When A. G. Adams and Son celebrated their first centenary of business in Kerang, Victoria (population 4000) early this year they offered a prize to the customer who brought along the oldest object to the store. Well known local identity, Rex Peacock, was the winner "by 1500 years," as he puts it, when he turned up with two 4th Century Roman coins.

Rex is the CML's man in Kerang. A district inspector with Bendigo unit, he covers a wide area of the Mallee and Sunraysia districts. Rex is a man of many facets — in fact of many surprising facets — and the story of the Roman coins is somehow typical of this tall, genial and energetic bushman who successfully combines the seemingly paradoxical roles of life insurance salesman and gun dealer.

During the war Rex served with the Australian 9th Division in the Middle East and at El Alamein, and his acquisition of the coins goes back to that period. "I was walking along the coast in Syria one hot afternoon in '42," he relates, "when I came upon Arab panning for gold. He had had just found two coins and I bought them from him as souvenirs. Several years later back in Australia I had them identified. They carried the bust of Roman Emperior Constantius II, who reigned from 337 to 361 AD."

Born and bred on a dairy farm in the Kerang district where several generations of his family had lived before him, Rex Peacock worked on a travelling chaff cutter in the years before the war. After the war when he got out of the Army, he recalls "the government gave me $20-worth of tools to set up a trade. I took two broad axes, one axe, one sledge hammer, a set of wedges and a cross-cut saw -to cut railway sleepers."

by R. P. FURNISS

This was followed by a period driving a dairy truck, collecting cream from farms, before he moved again for a short time — into a very different role as a blacksmith welder. "But in case you're getting the idea I was a bit unstable, I then knuckled down to 14 years of driving an engine in a power generation station at Kerang." He might still be at that, had the power station not closed in 1961 on the arrival of power from the State Electricity Commission.

Rex now joined his sister in a new venture — a retail store in Kerang — and at the same time acquired a gun dealer's licence. He had already acquired a considerable reputation for himself as a clay target shooter, a sport he had followed since his teenage years. Soon, he added to his business interests by buying a share in a garage — "in opposition to Les Saunders who is now the CML man at Boort," he pointed out.

And about this time, too, he began selling farm machinery, an occupation which took up most of his next 10 years and established for him an extensive rural based clientele, which later provided a valuable base market when he turned to selling life insurance for the CML in 1973.

This was an unscheduled turn of events which followed his introduction to Jack Jewell, the Society's district sales manager in Bendigo, by the then inspector, John Orr.

Rex (right) with wife Edna, and son Peter.

The busy life he has led and continues to lead, including the activity required to maintain his position as one of Victoria's leading clay target shooting exponents, should leave Rex Peacock with little time for any other business or recreational interest — or so one would expect. But the irrepressible Rex had yet another surprise for the author. He is also one of the State's leading apiarists ("I do it as a hobby — but in a rather extensive way") with something of an international reputation. He was the original processor of Royal Jelly in Australia and still has an overseas Royal Jelly market to supply. He likes to tell the story of a friend of his who, wandering down a street in Hong Kong, was amazed to be confronted by a sign in a shop window 'Rex Peacock's Royal Jelly available here.'

shop window, 'Rex Peacock's Royal Jelly available here.' "To be honest," he says, "when people used to ask me what I did for a living, I didn't know what to tell them." Today, however, he has no such indecision. "I am an insurance man first and foremost. And I think I have done sufficient things in my life to know the worth of a job -- not just in terms of what it does for me, but in what it does for the people all around me. Selling life insurance is the greatest thing I have ever done. The last few years have been the most satisfying of my life. I should have been in it years before." Which perhaps is why he has sold more than  $1\frac{1}{2}$  million sums assured in the past 12 months, and has earned the title of district inspector and membership of the Society's Contact Club in his relatively short insurance career.

But, back for a moment, to Rex Peacock the apiarist. "It all started," he says, "when I went to a Royal Melbourne Show in the late 1940's. A bloke sold me a book about bees, but I couldn't understand much when I read it because I knew nothing about bees. Then, one day I was driving along Pyramid Creek, near Kerang, when I came across a recently felled tree with a lot of disturbed bees buzzing about. Somebody had chopped down the tree to take the honey and left the bees behind. I thought this was an opportunity to acquire some bees and learn about them so I got hold of a friend who kept bees to help me. Nevertheless, I got severely stung on the ankles and eyes collecting the swarm. However, this started me off and I had about 200 hives at one stage when I was engine driving. "Royal Jelly is reputed to lengthen a person's lifespan," he added

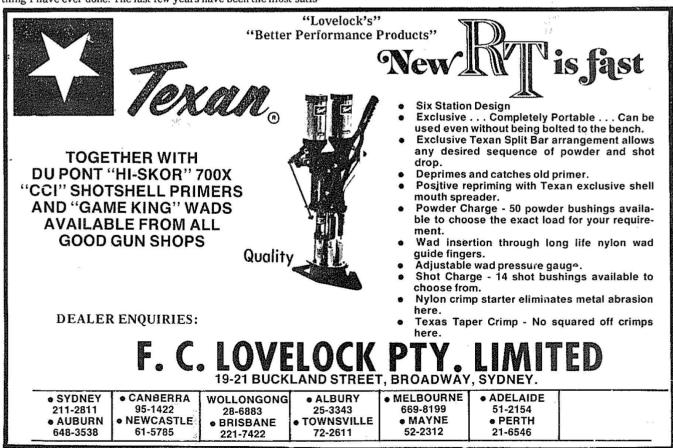

"Royal Jelly is reputed to lengthen a person's lifespan," he added facetiously, "and if that's right I should be subsidised by the life offices because it should reduce claims in relation to premiums."

For CML Rex covers the most extensive territory in Victoria. He has a superbly equipped 22ft caravan which he takes to such centres as Robinvale, Swan Hill and Mildura. His territory in one direction extends nearly 500 kilometres from his base at Kerang to the South Australian border.

Rex schedules much of his country travelling to coincide with clay shooting competitions, and in all these travels his wife Edna goes with him. "When the shooting is on I cover the area for business both insurance and gun dealing — at the same time. I use the gun clubs in these areas as centres for my work." Both he and Edna are patrons of the Mildura Gun Club, which is 180 miles from their home. "It has a beautiful office and a handy telephone," Rex says.

These privileges fall, perhaps, to Rex Peacock since he has won three Victorian State shooting titles. In 1961 he won the State Double-Barrelled Championship, in 1964 the Single-barrelled Championship, and in 1969 the Muzzle-Loading Championship.

The gun he used on that last occasion is a story in itself. It was one used by the rebels in the battle of the Eureka Stockade on 3

... with small but happy friend, Antoinette Dimasi of Mildura •

December 1854. "It is an English gun made by Thompson of Halesworth," he says, and relates how he acquired it. "Some time in the late 1940's I advertised in the Weekly Times to buy a muzzleloading gun. An elderly lady — she was in her 90's — from Mount Moriac, near Geelong, wrote to me and said she had such a gun which belonged to her husband and had been used in the Eureka battle. She had nobody to leave it to, and asked me to accept it as a gift as she wanted it to go to somebody who would appreciate it. Nearly 20 years later it won that muzzle-loading championship for me at Shepparton."

As a clay target shooter Rex Peacock has represented Australia in International competitions. He has competed in the USA, Britain, Belgium and Italy, and no fewer than seven times in New Zealand.

New Zealand is a country he likes to visit. He has spent many holidays deer hunting and trout and sword fishing in the Bay of Islands -- where the American writer, Zane Grey, established many world records for marlin fishing.

world records for marlin fishing. Edna also is keen on fishing. "When she comes with me to Mildura or Robinvale, she keeps me supplied with fish from the Murray," he says.

In the wide area he covers for CML Rex has among his clients doctors, solicitors, company directors, farmers and shopkeepers. It is a territory which demands considerable travelling and throws up its own particular hazards for motorists. "The most unpleasant things are the Mallee dust storms," he says. "When they blow up you can't tell whether it's day or night, and they will normally last from four to eight hours. Then, if thunder storms follow — as they often do — it brings down all the dust in mud. Grasshoppers, too, are a hazard: they quickly block up the air-conditioning in the car."

When a man, who has travelled around as much and tried as many things as Rex Peacock, starts to tell you of "the most interesting three days of my life" as a parting anecdote, then he has to have your attention.

It was 1968 and he had gone to Queensland to compete in the Australian Clay Target Championships on the Gold Coast. Because he had "a few shares" in the oil wells at Roma, after the championships he went west to see the wells. From Roma he decided to head straight back home to Kerang, down the centre of New South Wales.

"South of St. George in Queensland it started to rain heavily. The road began to deteriorate with the car constantly sliding off. Eventually, I came to a rundown weatherboard hotel on the Queensland border, but they weren't quite equipped for guests just then (they only catered for shearers, they said) and suggested I drive on to Goodooga. I managed to get to Goodooga only because I grew up in similar country and could handle the car over the greasy clay soil. We put up at the hotel in Goodooga and it rained all night.

"In the dining room the next morning I met a most interesting character who told me he sold life assurance (he is the only one I ever met who covered a territory bigger than mine. It extended over the north-west of New South Wales and southern Queensland). I spent three of the most interesting days of my life listening to him tell of his experiences selling insurance. He left me his name and address and the last I saw of him was heading through the mud towards Bourke where he was based — hell bent on getting back to a race meeting the next day. I didn't really expect to see him again.

"Some years later when I was at a shoot at Cobar, NSW, I phoned him at Bourke — just because he was such an interesting character. I didn't recall what life office he worked for — but somehow, having met him, I think it was inevitable that I would some day sell life insurance too.

"One day in 1974, I was thumbing through the pages of an old 'Outlook' and there I found him, large as life — F. A. Hosick, manager of CML's Parramatta branch. I knew him only as Sandy, but there was no mistaking him so I wrote him a letter straight away. We don't see each other much, but we are good friends just the same."

Rex and Edna still make an annual pilgrimage to the Cobar shoot, some 450 rough country miles from their home — in recent years accompanied by Les Saunders from Boort and his wife, Mary, plus, as in all his journeying, Rex's inevitable shotguns and life insurance proposal forms.

Duck Shooters Check List. An interesting document arrived on the Editor's desk a day or two ago. It was headed "Duck Shooters Check List" and has been produced by the Promotions Division of Winchester Aust. Pty. Ltd. The list is probably the most comprehensive reminder sheet ever offered to shooters and members would be well advised to procure a copy. They are available either from your local Field-Game Branch or through the A.C.T.A. Office. Also available from the same source is a well constructed, conveniently sized polythene envelope in which the Shooter's Hunting Permit can be placed to ensure that it remains dry.

D. W. Custer Pty. Ltd. One of Australia's leading I.S.U. Skeet shooters Mark Little has left the Winchester fold and has joined D. W. Custer Pty. Ltd. This Company holds the Australian Franchise for such famous names as Sako Rifles and Bushnell Telescopic Sights together with the broad range of Lanber Shotguns. Mark's previous experience which includes a stint behind the counter with Evans & Balfour in Melbourne will stand him in good stead in his new job. We wish you all the best Mark.

Prices. Locally manufactured cartridge prices are in the process of being increased at the time of going to press. Already Eley Ammunition has advised retail traders of increases around 10% across the board. Firearms on the Eley Range are also being increased in most cases.

There is little doubt that locally made cartridges from the Winchester plant at Geelong will be quick to follow suit, although the extent to which Winchester Products will increase is not known at the time of going to press.

ETON/MACKAY GUN CLUB (Q) — This Club conducted its Annual Meeting recently at which the following Office-Bearers were elected: President - Chris Nielsen (for a further term); Vice-President - Mick Knuth and Secretary Mrs Clare Nielsen.

ST. JAMES GUN CLUB (VIC) — Mr Maurice Murphy the new Secretary of St. James Gun Club advises us that they hope to get the Club off the ground again soon. Mr Murphy's address is Yundool, via St. James 3727.

WARRACKNABEAL GUN CLUB (VIC) — At their Annual Meeting for 1978 held recently Mr Gary Pike was elected as President. Vice Presidents are John Witney and Don Dunn; Secretary - John Clark; Assistant Secretary - Barry McLeish; Treasurer - Kay Vogel; Shoot Marshall - Peter Hewitt; Press Correspondent - John Clark. Work to be carried out at the Club will be the lining and renovations of toilets and the installation of lights over the second D.T.L. layout. With a bit of luck the lighting will be sufficient to cover most of the Skeet layout also. With a few minor adjustments and live wires hanging from trees it should be possible for a good night skeet shoot If successful, it is proposed to hold night skeet once per month, so all you Wimmera skeet shooters keep in contact and we'll let you know when things are under way. Another working bee will be held to plan approximately 100 trees in and around the Club.

TAMWORTH GUN CLUB (N.S.W.) — This Club is another to join the growing list of affiliated Clubs which has an official Publicity Officer. His name is Brian Maher and he has already been active in providing C.T.S.N. with details of the Club's Annual Meeting. Col Burt has been returned for another term as President (how could there be a change after the dedication, enthusiasm and leadership which has been demonstrated by Col during the last couple of years), Vice-President is Mr Graham Wilson and Secretary is Mike O'Connor.

CUNDERDIN GUN CLUB (W.A.) -- We have just heard on the grape-vine that the automatic trench traps for installation at Cunderdin Gun Club have now arrived in Perth and should be installed within the next few weeks. We are looking forward to receiving advice of the official opening of the newest "fifteen trap layout" in Australia.

Gun Clubs Near And Far ...

I've been travelling around the gun clubs of late both at home and inter-state, I went to Kerang and Echuca and Griffith too and who knows but I may have been talking to you.

The first place I went to was Kerang where for a day and a night the sound of shots rang, Shooters came from near and far including some from Mil-du-ra, The James brothers were there, Alf and Frank no, they're no relation to that infamous yank.

Kerang gun club is a pretty nice place but there's something in the way that their traps face, on the number two trap you shoot into the trees which is something I can't do with ease, I lose sight of the targets amongst the wood if they could cut them down their background would be good.

The weather wasn't real kind that day as a strong wind with the targets did play, the targets would lift then take a dive and a lot of them reached the ground alive, but a good days shooting was had by all and the people who won walked nine feet tall.

I went to Echuca the following day to shoot at more targets of clay, I went there hoping I'd shoot well as I've been going bad for quite a spell, but that jolly old wind was blowing again and treating the targets with total disdain, all things considered, I think I shot well and very few of my targets were alive when they fell.

A fairly large crowd of shooters came and quite a few of them I knew by name, there was Fred and Tony, Terry and Don Bob Buchan and Diesl and of course young John, Bill Iles from Melbourne was also there in a floral shirt beyond compare, there were lots of others there as well and as some of them I hadn't seen for a spell, it was great to be able to stand and chat and catch up on the gossip about this and that.

Keith Saggers won the State title that night as we all thought that he might, Lindsay Jobling was second and was he relieved that second barrel of his has to be seen to be believed, the way he picks up his targets way out of the light never fails to cause the crowd delight.

I called at Griffith on New Year's Day as I was going home and it was on the way, to win a trip to New Zealand was my aim and it was also the reason the other shooters came, now would you believe it if I said I shot well but did I win a trip, that I'll not tell, 'cos then you'd know old Ghostie's name and it would spoil the whole guessing game.

I only stayed the one day 'cos the weather was so hot and I thought I'd melt to a grease spot, how I wish my hat had had a pup before Spooky took it and ate it up.

"GHOSTIE"

An elderly woman had been to hear her nephew preach for the first time, and she thought it a very poor sermon. Later that day she asked: "James, why did you enter the ministry?"

"Because I was called," he answered.

"James," said the aunt, looking solemnly at him, "are you sure it wasn't some other noise you heard?"

History of B.C.Miroku Sporting Firearms

Since 1962 the firm of gun makers Miroku Firearms Mfg. Co. has flashed into prominence around the world.

Details of their humble beginning by the originator is rather obscure. It is known that prior to 1850 and some years afterwards, the Japanese had been confronted with the bitter change of times and were rather unadventurous in the modernisation of their firearms, in fact primitive match locks were being used whilst the Western world had moved up to breech loaders, this could be excused as Japan did not colonise to the degree of Westerners who adventured and colonised vast territories in many parts of the world.

It might be said that they had been abhorrent of lethal weapons. Anyway, the subsequent rivalry and hunting needs demanded improved weapons. However backward as they may have seemed, they certainly have made up for their early neglect during the last 15 years; in 1962 a trickle of Miroku Under/Over shotguns began to arrive in Australia; even then they supplied a shotgun at a most reasonable cost, compared to those other nations, and a gun that measured up very well in design and performance.

Feb. 1893 Began Manufacturing Shooting guns by Mr K. Miroku, originator.

April 1971 Capital increased to Yen 360,000,000.

June 1972 Moved to No. 637-1 Shinohara, Nangoku City, Kochi Pref.

The latest catalogues printed and distributed by Miroku Firearms Mfg. Co. indicate shotgun models, 15 in U.O. and 6 in Side-by-Side and nearly half as many rifles, all of which would rival other makers anywhere in the world.

The shooters in Australia in their general acceptance of Miroku Firearms indicated clear admiration of Miroku quality and price. Miroku brand is the pride of the owner!

Terry McCarthy, Member: Frankston-Australian Gun Club.

Dear Sir,

"FAIR GO DOC"

The vital, important issue of constitutional revision which concerns us all will eventually be laid to rest when responsible members of our sport collectively instruct delegates and their respective state associations to voice a democratic unified view of conviction at the "78 Annual General Meeting".

Dr Young's apparent recent interest in the administration of our sport has been expressed in a tone which should be labelled personal observations. Trap shooters excercising sincere thought will agree that Dr Raymond Young in attacking the personal motivation and integrity of Bob Buchan has shown an unfortunate lack of judgment and sense of "Fair Play".

Active and vigorous disagreement with Bob Buchan and our executive guardians of decision is healthy and on occasions of paramount importance. However, such argument must be tempered with an acceptable degree of responsibility.

In addition Dr Young please note . . . Our National President together with Noel Southey are not supernatural . . . The reference you made to their miracle in reconstructing the A.C.T.A. did not happen.

The "Real Life" perspective effectively states that scores of people from Clubs throughout Australia together with Ern Hawkins, his TOTAL EXECUTIVE committee and our secretary are gradually but effectively earning respect, approval and acknowledgement from an acceptable percentage of Clay Target Shooters.

FOOTNOTE to Terry McCarthy's letter, from President Ern.

- You will be aware that I have withdrawn the Constitutional changes from the Agenda of the 1978 A.G.M. and I have done this for three main reasons: --
- (1) I did not believe that shooters and member clubs fully understood the proposed changes.

- (2) Some members of the A.C.T.A. Executive changed their ideas — in response to reaction from clubs and shooters — after they had agreed to the proposal in Committee, and I could see no purpose in submitting the proposal to our members until it was framed in a manner that they would accept.
- (3) I did not believe that member clubs fully understood that amendments to the proposal could not be accepted from the floor at the A.G.M.

The Companies Act provides that if a motion requires notice then any amendment to it also requires notice of at least twenty-eight days.

Part of the proposal provided for a reduced Executive with the business of the meetings they would attend being first chanelled through the respective State Associations so that Executive members could be instructed.

It would appear that the situation which has developed at the present time only proves that what we are trying to achieve is the right idea.

Recent correspondence has side-tracked from the real issues and I ask now that each of you give the proposal serious thought; that you invite discussion within your club; and that you see that your club's opinion is passed to Zone Councils and State Associations so that the National Executive may be fully informed.

A proposal acceptable to the majority of our members will then be prepared for your perusal and submission to the 1979 A.G.M..

Ern Hawkins, PRESIDENT.

In the last issue of C.T.S.N. I made a vigorous attack upon one of the most powerful men in trapshooting — namely Bob Buchan.

This was intended to "wake up" Australian shooters and provoke controversy and discussion.

It was my last intention to denigrate this man's ability or to discount his enormous contribution to our sport.

I deeply regret any offence I have occasioned to a man I respect. This statement is not made under coercion or out of any personal fear of the consequences.

DR. R. YOUNG Melbourne Gun Club.

Dear Noel,

Hi -- further to the January "News" and the information re. a National Clay Target Venue.

I have enclosed a photo-stat of a letter written by me in 1965 regarding the same project -- some of the information is now obsolete but quite a bit of it is still current. (The letter is published for readers' information .--- Ed.)

The reason for the extra expense for S.A. shooters is that the air services overfly Canberra from Adelaide to Sydney and then fly back from Sydney to Canberra. This may have been rectified by 1978, or, the S.A. shooters could fly Adelaide-Melbourne and thence Canberra which would make it cheaper for all states for anyone following the "Nationals" on a regular basis.

One point that I was not aware of in 1965 is the critical shortage of a suitable reception and conference centre in Canberra (for weddings and conferences, etc.). If the A.C.T.A. built a nice Clubhouse with a first class reception area with suitable catering facilities it would have no trouble in letting the facilities and make it a really profitable venture. Perhaps a feature against it from your point of view would be that the Secretary would be required to operate from Canberra, however - with the central location you would be readily able to travel in any direction.

Also, I know that the "powers that be" in Canberra are much more acceptable to any request for financial assistance if the money is going into the A.C.T. -- if a request is to be spent in any particular State the Federal boys can easily fob it off as a "State Assistance" I feel that if a suitable plan was presented to the Federal authorities we would receive a favourable reply. Also, I feel that the rank and file shooter would pay a "once only" levy if it were going into a National ground on a neutral situation (the A.C.T.).

These views are my personal views and may not be worth a crumpet -- however, they may be of some benefit to someone along the line.

Best wishes, LEN

"I would like to support the views of the Dorrigo Club in opposing the suggested levy re financial assistance to clubs holding the International series as suggested by the President of the Association.

The suggestion as mentioned would assist the Adelaide, Sydney, Melbourne and Southport Clubs and spread the available finance over four areas.

I have attended the last four International shoots and will agree that the facilities available are far from satisfactory. We are on show to our New Zealand neighbours as well as our own personal comfort, and the amenities are most inadequate for a sport that has so many followers of comfortable financial standing. This is not the fault of any club, as these clubs function to suit their own particular requirements and cannot be expected to spend thousands of pounds on improvements which will only be fully used once every four years this would be unreasonable and no club could be criticised for its lack of amenities for this series.

I would like to make a suggestion that the Association investigates the possibilities of building one ground of their own adjacent to Canberra, A.C.T., and all International series be held at this venue (similar to Vandalia in U.S.A.)

In support of this suggestion, I submit the following:

- 1. Centrally located.
- 2. Finance required for one ground (instead of four).
- 3. Unlimited accommodation. 4. Unlimited facilities for sight-
- seeing, entertainment and interesting exhibits.

5. Less expense re. travelling for

In explanation of paragraph 5, 1 contacted T.A.A. and have been supplied with the following fares (tourist class, 1965), which are selfexplanatory:

SOUTHPORT to:

Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and return Average 43 pounds 3 shillings 3 pence p.a.

Canberra and return Average 32 pounds 12 shillings p.a. SYDNEY to:

Southport, Melbourne, Adelaide and return - Average 27 pounds 14 shillings o.a.

Canberra and return - Average 9 pounds 8 shillings p.a. MELBOURNE to:

Adelaide, Sydney, Southport and Average 27 pounds 14 return shillings p.a.

Canberra and return Average 21 pounds 4 shillings p.a.

- ADELAIDE to: Melbourne, Sydney, Southport and return Average 40 pounds 8 shillings 6 pence p.a.
- Canberra and return Average 43 pounds 12 shillings p.a.

You can see that any shooter following the International series over four years from any capital city (except Adelaide) would save quite a substantial sum in fares.

The Association could erect a modern ground and clubhouse and provide facilities acceptable to all shooters and visitors - the ground could be made available on a rental basis to any club who wishes to hold a big shoot (car or State team) and this money could provide a part-time ground keeper to keep the amenities in order. Perhaps some adjacent club would be prepared to look after the amenities, etc., in exchange for the use of the club for their club shoots. These things are only minor and could easily be arranged should a ground be erected.

We do urgently require a central neutral ground for the Association and I can think of no better place than the Capital Territory of Australia, with all its future expansion and amenities to attract visitors from all over Australia and New Zealand, as well as overseas countries. What more could we offer our visitors than tours of the Snowy Scheme, Cotter Dam, War

Memorial, Parliament House, Canberra's famous autumn leaves, gardens, etc., etc. I feel that quite a few shooters would be more prepared to pay a smaller levy or purchase debentures in one club situated at the doorstep of Australia. I trust the above information may clarify the position as I see it; however, I would appreciate the support or criticism of the above suggestion by any member of the As-sociation. I would like to make it clear the above views are my own personal views and not the general views of the Cowra Gun Club -- this matter has never been discussed on a club basis."

The Secretary, A.C.T.A.

Dear Noel,

I have given some thought to the controversial subject of handicapping recently, and submit for publication and criticism the following system. Knowing it is far from perfect, it may provide a basis from which a more equitable system can be evolved.

The present system makes it difficult for many good shooters to be re-handicapped because of the trophy/money value system attached to handicapping. If equity of the competition is to be preserved then a new system relating to the shooters performance has to be introduced.

Preliminary.

The system applies to D.T.L. events of S.B., D.B., D.B. Points, shot from handicap or common mark, but does not include events such as Double Rise, Deauville Doubles, Walk-ups and other novelty events.

On first registering, a novice shooter or junior starts on the 11 m mark C grade. An experienced shooter registering for the first time is assessed by the Club and handicapped and graded accordingly. A shooter re-registering assumes his old handicap mark and grade. (A shooter showing obvious talent may be re-graded at the Club's discretion.

Common mark events are to be used as at present for re-grading, according to the percentage of targets broken.

Points and Par System.

Par is the possible. Par is the number of event targets to be shot at, and must be 10 or more. Events of less than 10 targets do not count, e.g., 5 tgt eyeopeners.

Points is the number of point's allotted the shooter according to events won, or events in which he shoots the possible (or gains par for that event.)

Points Ta	able	Present H'cp	Points won	RE/hcp
Event Tgts.	Pt/S	11	3	12
10	1	12	4	13
15	11/2	13	5	14
20	2	14	6	15
25	21/2	15	7	16
30	3	16	8	17
40	4	17	9	18
50	5	18	10	19
etc.		19	10	20
		20	10	21
		21	10	22
		22	12	23
		23	12	24
		24	12	25

For re-handicapping the tables indicate the points allotted for each event, and the number of points to be gained before rehandicapping.

all shooters (except Adelaide).

EDITOR'S MAILBOX Cont'd.

Explanation: A shooter gains points according to the events he wins - one point for each outright win in handicap events and one point for a graded win in a common mark event, or a win outright in a common mark event, irrespective of the number of targets broken.

If a shooter shoots par for the event, he gains a point or points according to the number of targets in the event. When he has reached the required number of points, he is automatically re-handicapped whereupon he must gain the required points before being rehandicapped again.

Recording is to be done on the handicap card by the shoot Secretary. Only wins and pars are recorded for handicapping. Regrading is done as before.

Examples: (a) For a 10 target handicap event all possibles receive a point. Winner of the shoot-off receives a point. If no possibles shot, the winner of the shoot-off (or outright winner) receives a point.

(b) For a 25 target Championship off 16 m, all possibles receive 2<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> points. The outright Champion receives a point and grade wins except outright, receive a point.

I don't think it is necessary to go any further, than to submit the system for perusal, comment and criticism.

It may have merit, who can say.

No doubt there will be anomalies immediately obvious, according to each shooters view; if these are pointed out and rectified, then we have some chance of finally getting a handicap system which reflects the shooters ability and preserves equity of the competition. I remain, Yours sincerely,

JIM DRAPER.

Near North Coast & Dist. Assn. First Championship Program

At the shoot conducted by Gympie Gun Club on 8th January 1978, the first of the N.N.C. & D.A. championships was held.

The response to this shoot was tremendous and the four clubs who comprise the Assn, were well represented. The weather was hot and sunny with gusty winds which lifted the clays up and down, however this didn't deter the shooter from competing. This first championship was a 30 target double barrel event. The overall winner was Wayne Brough from Toogoolawah Gun Club, who was the only shooter to get the possible. The A Grade winner was E. Kath B Grade was T. Alford, C Grade G. Dun. Congratulations to all these shooters.

The club teams match, which is shot in conjunction with this event was also well represented, and six teams of six shooters competed. Sunshine Coast No. 1 team was successful in this first shoot beating Murgon by one target only. However the response to this teams match was so enthusiastic, that the friendly inter-club rivalry seen at this shoot holds a promising future for the teams match at the future division of the N.N.C. & D.A. Championships.

The next Championship will be held at the Toogoolawah Gun Club on Saturday 25th March, and will be a 30 target double barrel night Championship.

SUCCESS FOR THE SIXTEENTH TIME -

On 29th November ELEY Ammunition sponsored the 16th North Eastern Regional Schoolboy Championship. The day was a great success, thanks to a lot of hard work from the organisers and the generosity of trophy donors.

For sixteen years this shoot has been organised by Charles Whitla - a marathon effort!

RESULTS: Harry Foster Trophy event New Boys Team won by Wangaratta Technical School score 29-50; Charles Behrendt Trophy event Old Boys Team won by Wodonga Technical School score 34-50; Horrie James Trophy event Champion New Boy won by W. Graham, Alexandra, event Champion Old Boy won by D. Borden, Benalla; Miss Olholm Trophy event Champion Girl won by T. The following letter should stimulate similar programs in other areas. The letter is from Chas Whitla.

Dear Noel.

I apologise for not putting pen to paper sooner to assist you in some way in compiling information to be presented to the powers that be on teaching as part of the Victorian schools sports curriculum, Safety with Firearms.

In 1957, I was an instructor at Wangaratta Technical School, and secretary of the newly formed Victorian Field and Game Association, Wangaratta Branch.

We were involved with a project of distributing artificial duck nests.

I sought the assistance of some of my students. The areas into which we went to place the artificial duck nests were areas where snakes were often found, so the adults in the group usually carried firearms. The students wanted to use the guns so we decided to teach them how to use guns safely in exchange for their assistance in helping us with the nests.

We also taught them the aims of our Association -- that is, conservation of wildlife.

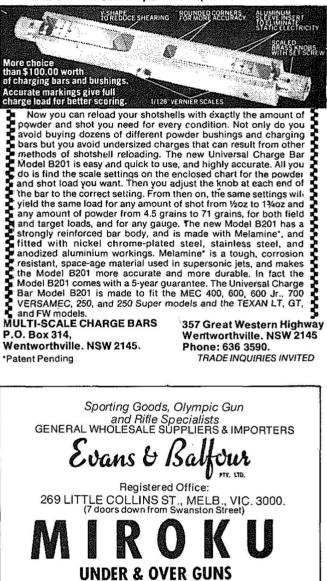

We were the first group to set aside a conservation area on privately owned farming land.

Many of these lads were the first junior members of the Field and Game Association.

The then Commissioner of Police in Victoria gave his blessing, and although the Education Department didn't give its official blessing, it knew of our activities.

The teaching of the students was not a haphazard affair -- the first step was the safe handling of firearms and then they were taken clay target shooting. Experienced shooters helped at classes, people with qualifications in conservation, trespass laws and associated outdoor activities lectured classes. A series of "Do's" and "Don'ts" of shooting appeared in picture form in the Australian Post, with our lads as the models.

During the duck season these lads accompanied us on many early morning outings, and they gained satisfaction in occupational therapy while learning to be responsible shooters.

Mr Newton THOMAS of I.C.I. gave the scheme a boost when he came to Wangaratia to demonstrate professional clay bird shooting and shot with the boys.

In 1961 I took up a position as Vice Principal at Benalla Technical School and my Wangaratta students challenged me to field a competitive team of Benalla students against them. So I formed a similar group at Benalla and in December 1961 the first inter-school clay bird shoot was held at Benalla with 30 students from Wangaratta and Benalla taking part. However, as well as gaining points for each clay bird shot, points were deducted for every breach of safety.

Through the encouragement and generosity of Mr Frank Bennett of I.C.I. clays and cartridges were supplied by I.C.I. Our official referee was the late Mr Horrie James. He and Mr Bennett praised the lads for starting something unique in Victorian education.

The following year Mr Lyn Barr of Mansfield High School joined with his students, in competitive shooting. He later began classes at Corryong and is now the principal of the Rainbow High School and has had a claybird trap installed in the school yard and one of the best outdoor clubs a school could have. He has secondary schools in north-western Victoria competing now.

But back to our second year when Mansfield High School joined us. Our Principal at Benalla was Mr Alan Dingle who three years later went to White Hills Technical school at Bendigo as Principal, and saw to it that a "field boys group" was formed at White Hills. They joined Wangaratta, Benalla and Mansfield schools competing at Benalla, annually. By then I had classes of Benalla High Schools as well. The thing was beginning to snowball. In quick succession schools from Alexandra, Kyabram, Wangaratta High, Shepparton and Euroa were competing.

During this time I received a letter from the Tasmanian Education Department asking me to tell how the classes functioned and how the students were taught, because it was being considered as a sports subject in Tasmania. I sent the information, but do not know if it was acted upon.

Other schools contacted me asking for details of the classes, and I do know that firearms safety and competitive shooting began in a number of Victorian schools as a result of this and the publicity which our annual shoots received. The A.B.C. has a number of films used in their television news services.

Girl competitors from High Schools joined us and became efficient shooters.

The numbers of schools became so many that in 1976 they were split. By this time I'd been several years in Wodonga and begun classes at Wodonga Technical and High Schools, and Scots School Albury. I have since retired from the Education Department but the classes continue weekly, except for Scots School which has dropped out.

Despite this, in November 1976, eleven schools fielded 168 girls and boys on our 15th annual field day at Wangaratta -- all of these schools are in north-eastern Victoria.

Continued support — without which we could not continue to function — has been given by IMI, Keith Pittock from Donald Macintosh Pty. Ltd., Geoff Kilgour of IMI (now Eley Ammunition), Harry Foster the donor of the first perpetual trophy, from Benalla; Jim Draper who taught at both Benalla and Wodonga Technical schools and still takes weekly classes; Ray Davenport from Wangaratta, Ian McDonald, a Wangaratta City Councillor and teacher at Wangaratta Technical School.

There are others like Les Simpson from Wangaratta Technical College and Peter Stonehouse from Corryong who have been a great strength to the scheme.

There are people like Vin Liuzzi on whose property out of Wangaratta we held the first shoot with hand traps, because there was nowhere else to shoot then; with Ray Colson, Ian McDonald and Kevin Hogan as co-instructors.

It has been very gratifying from my point of view to see something unique grow to such proportions from its humble beginning over a, pannikin of billy tea on the flood plain of the King River at Moyhu in 1957.

This is a full history Noel, and despite the affects of inflation, some hundreds of pupils from Technical and High Schools are learning to be responsible sportsmen in their own right, despite public outcry of the dangers associated with firearms.

A well satisfied being,

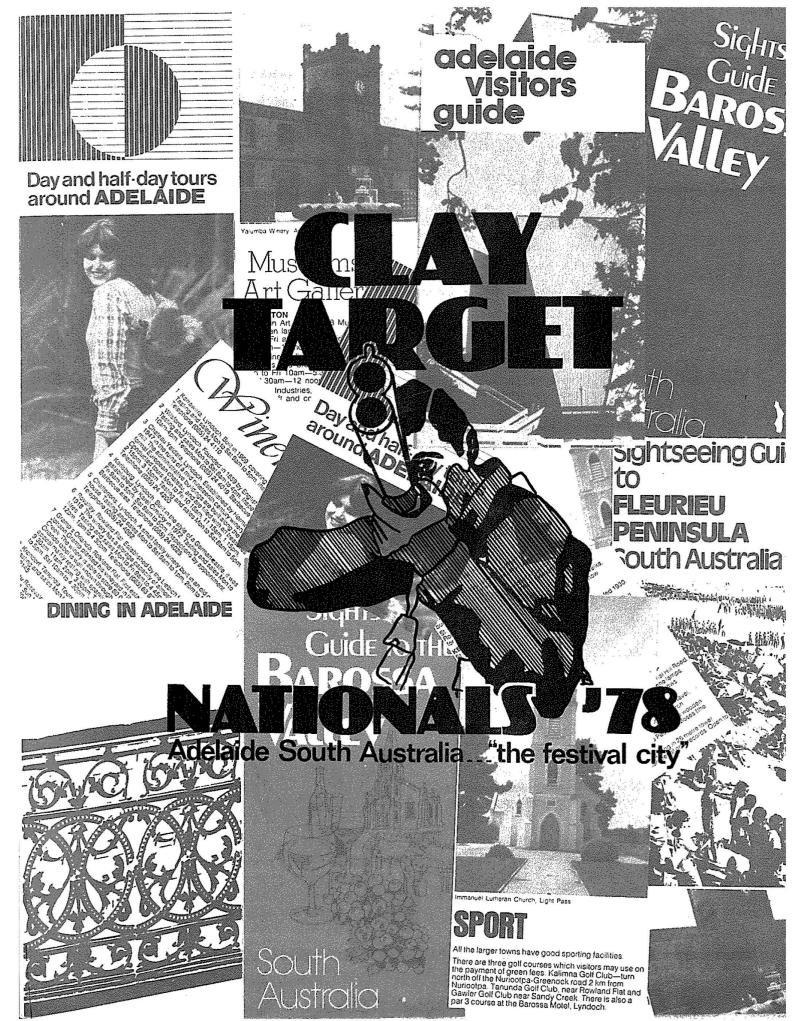

Keith Allen of Wangaratta with a group of students.

........ AIR NEW ZEALAND TEAM ELIMINATIONS

Australia will be represented at the 1978 GRAND AMERICAN HANDICAP program by an official six-man team. This team will be selected over the Air New Zealand Team Eliminations events -- i.e. the National Double Barrel Championship, the National Single Barrel Championship and the Australia-New Zealand Trap Championship. The shooter with the highest aggregate score from each of the six States shall be eligible to take his place in the Air New Zealand Team, to represent Australia in the International Match to be conducted at Vandalia, Ohio, USA on August 12th 1978. Should the shooter with the highest score from a particular State be unable to take his place, the position will be offered to the competitor with the second highest aggregate from the same State.

Team members will fly by Air New Zealand DC-10 to Los Angeles and then to Dayton, Ohio, and will have air fares and entry in the International Match paid. The two team members with the highest qualifying scores will each receive the Air New Zealand Silver Trophy, valued at $200.

Furthermore, a representative team will be selected to attend the 1978 New Zealand National Championships, to compete in the Glenn Cup. A position in the touring team will be offered to the six top scorers in the Mackintosh International Team.

The A.C.T.A. is grateful for the support and encouragement it is receiving from Air New Zealand.

CONDITIONS OF COMPETITION

Time of Starting. It is planned to start daily competition at 8 a.m. or as near to that time as light conditions will allow. As the shooting grounds have a southerly aspect there should be no unusual delays. It should be noted that shooters who do not have a legitimate reason for missing their squad will be penalised a target.

Nominations. Nominations will be taken from midday on Tuesday 7th March in the Clubhouse of the South Australian Gun Club. It is possible to nominate for the full program or alternatively an event at a time. However, if you are aware that you will be competing in the full program it would facilitate administrative duties if you could place that entry on the first day. Please remember to have your 1977 and 1978 handicap cards ready for presentation when nominating.

Fired Cartridge Cases. Any fired cases on the shooting ground immediately become the property of the Australian Clay Target Association. However, provision has been made this year for users of self-loading shotguns to procure an identification card from the office which will enable them to claim the return of the cases they have expended in any particular event. It will necessary for the Referee in charge of the squad in which they shoot to initial the card and this will provide clear evidence that a self-loading shotgun has been used.

Squadding. In all matches shooters will be squadded six to a squad. Arrangements will be made to select two scorers from each squad to score the following squad. We request that all shooters cooperate in this regard, as it is a means of guaranteeing the smooth running of the shooting match. Also in this way everybody gets to have a chance.

Cartridges. With the exception of the Grand Australian Handicap and any sweepstake matches that may be run in addition to the Nationals Events, only correctly branded National Association cartridges are to be used in Nationals Championships Events. Manufacturers to be represented include Browning, Eley and Winchester and tickets authorising the supply of cartridges can be purchased from the office at the time of nominating. It should be noted that the ammunition store will be open during the hours 8 till 10.30, 1 till 2, and 3.30 till 5.

Handloads or any factory loaded cartridge up to 36 grams may be used in the Grand Australian Handicap.

Current Registration Cards. It is important that competitors present their current registration card at the time of nominating. Additionally should any grade or handicap mark checks become required, it would facilitate such investigations if competitors would have their 1977 card with them as well.

Catering. A service known as Alitalia Catering Services has contracted to provide meals on the ground. A full snack and midday meal service will be available together with morning and afternoon teas. It should be noticed that arrangements are being made for a smorgasbord dinner to be provided on the ground (at personal cost) prior to the commencement of the Annual General Meeting on Friday 10th March. The Annual Meeting is scheduled to commence at 7 p.m.

Divisions of Competition. Each National Championship will be divided into the following divisions:

Open Division (in which everybody competes). (a)

- (b) Ladies Division
- Junior Division (for those shooters who are registered as a (c) junior with the Association for the current year). Veteran (for shooters 60 years of age and over).
- (d)

Compulsory Sweepstakes. Sweepstakes totalling $3 have been built into the nomination for each National Championship this year, with the exception of the National Double Rise Championship where the sweepstake contribution is $1 per entry. For the first time these pools of sweepstakes will be divided in a direct ratio to the grade from which the money has been received. For example if the entry in the National Double Barrel Championship reaches 600 and in that total there are 310 A grade shooters, 190 B grade shooters and 100 C grade shootere ...de shooters would participate in a pool representing one sixth of the total. This move has been implemented to ensure better distribution of sweepstakes and should result in greater "customer satisfaction".

1978 Annual General Meeting. The 42nd Annual General Meeting of the Australian Clay Target Association will be held in the Club rooms of the South Australian Gun Club, Bolivar, South Australia on Friday 10th March commencing at 7 p.m. Club Delegates and Representatives are reminded that the Delegate Register will be open for scrutiny from 6 p.m. in the A.C.T.A. Information Centre. A cordial invitation is extended to all visitors and competitors to attend, as such attendance must result in a great awareness of what the Association is about.

Trap Equipment. Competitors attending the 1978 National Championships should note that there will be three Skeet grounds and (depending on the demand) either six or seven Trap grounds. The seventh Trap ground will be reserved for practice if it is not required for competition purposes. All Trap grounds will be equipped with Winchester White Flyer Clay Target Traps from which the interruptors will have been removed.

Acknowledgements. The Australian Clay Target Association is particularly appreciative of the support which has been given by the following Trophy Donors: Winchester Aust. Pty. Ltd., Eley Ammunition, Evans & Balfour, F. C. Lovelock Pty. Ltd., Boustead Trading Ltd., Kingflight Industries, Ian Ritchie Handcrafted Furniture, Cecil Herbert (Gunnedah), J. Newton Thomas (Melbourne), Ern and Verlie Hawkins (Windsor), Robert Smith (Goulburn) and Barry Kable (Sydney), the late W. Rainbird (who donated the Perpetual Trophy used for the National Single Barrel Championship), J. M. Tyquin (Past President, who donated the Perpetual Cup to be offered to the winner of the National Double Rise Championship), Gordon Hall (Past President, who has donated the Perpetual Trophy to be presented to the winner of the Grand Australian Handicap), J. M. Wilson (Past President, who has donated a Perpetual Trophy to be presented to the winner of the National Double Barrel Championship), F. N. Sports Ltd (of Belgium who partner Winchester in the donation of the C.I Grade Browning), Fuller Firearms Company of Sydney. Air New Zealand, for the tremendous support and assistance given to enable Australia to be represented in Overseas Competitions. In all lists such as this one there is a very real chance that a supporter has been overlooked. If such is the case would he or she please accept our apologies and offer a gentle reminder to ensure that the omission does not recur.

Presentation Night. The 1978 Presentation Night will be conducted as a Dinner Dance to be held at the South Australian Italian Community Convention Centre, which is located in Carrington Street, Adelaide. Tickets may be obtained from the A.C.T.A. Information Centre or any Executive Committee Member. A great night's entertainment is assured with the food being of a very high standard and music supplied by a group called "SPEC", which is a four-piece Country & Western type group. The cost will be $10 per head and this will provide a great opportunity to acknowledge our Champions for 1978. The meal is scheduled to commence at 7.30 p.m. on the evening of Wednesday 15th March. In other words, when the Champion of Champions Cup has been completed let's all make tracks for the South Australian Italian Community Convention Rooms in Carrington Street, Adelaide. (It should be noted that drinks will be extra).

Gunsmithing Services. The retail store and gunsmithing services on the 1978 National Shooting Ground (S.A. Gun Club, Bolivar) will be Taipan Gun Shop which is operated by Syd and Elva Churches, both of whom are extremely well-known to all Clay Target shooters. In the event of any firearm or accessory problem during the Nationals, do not hesitate to take your problem direct to either Syd or Elva or their co-operative staff.

Accounts. Would shooters intending to compete in the 1978 Nationals please note that payment will be on a "cash with nomination" basis, which means no bank card and no credit account. The South Australian Clay Target Association investigated the possibility offering bank card facilities as an additional service to shooters but the increase in costs was too high to make the move attractive.

Practice. Trap practice facilities will be available during the two days of the National Skeet Championship. Included will be both Common Mark Double Barrel, Handicap shooting and Double Rise. Additional practice facilities will be offered on ground 7 at any time when the ground is not required for competition purposes. Practice fees will be $3 per round of Skeet and $1.50 per 10 targets for Trap. Numbered tickets must be purchased from the office before going on to the practice ground.

Eligibility for Awards. In all events other than the Grand Australian Handicap a competitor who wins an award in the Open Division will not be excluded from winning an award in any of the other three divisions I.E. Ladies, Junior or Veteran's Division. In the Grand Australian Handicap a competitor who wins a prize in the outright section is automatically excluded from those who qualify for metre group trophies.

dining in adelaide

Within a short distance of the city are Australia's main vineyards providing table wines as excellent and varied as any in the world. These are available in the dining rooms of Adelaide's hotels and at many of its restaurants.

In recent years a new sophistication has come to Adelaide's restaurants through the influence of high class continental chefs, catering for the tastes of newly arrived citizens and native South Australians alike.

Many Adelaide hotels have also acknowledged this new influence providing music and, on occasions, floor shows to add to the enjoyment of dining out.

Tucked away in side streets, basements and arcades, are many coffee lounges and espresso bars. Much of their charm comes from seeking them out and discovering their individual attractions.

A RESTAURANT LICENCE permits the sale of any type of liquor with meals in the restaurant between 12 noon and 1.30 a.m.

A WINE LICENCE permits the sale of wine to take away or for consumption on the premises from 9.00 a.m. to 9.00 p.m.

A CABARET LICENCE permits the sale of any liquor with food and entertainment between 7.00 p.m. and 3.00 a.m.

The abovementioned times are not applicable on SUNDAYS, CHRISTMAS DAY and GOOD FRIDAY, when special conditions apply.

Due to frequent changes in days of opening, it is suggested that you refer to the SUNDAY MAIL if requiring meals on SUNDAYS.

The minimum recoil Reload and fire,

Such is the standard of gun-making skill at Franchi, that their mechanism can stand a complete firing and reloading cycle in less than 1/120,000th of a second.

Faster than a human eye can blink. Such is their perfection in design, that annoying noise and vibration are non-existent. At Franchi, guns are an art.

Safe, incredibly strong, well balanced and of elegant line. And there's the classic Franchi reliability too, which has made it the most widely owned gun of its kind in Europe. In short, it is the best that modern technology can offer and that the most demanding shooter can desire.

Three examples of Franchi's art may be found in Australia.

The Franchi 520 Eldorado Gold. The most highly prized of all Franchi automatics and a true artistic masterpiece.

The receiver is beautifully engraved with hunting scenes and hand inlaid bird figures in pure gold. This, combined with specially selected walnut stocks, make this gun a unique piece of high prestige. The Franchi 520. Superbly finished and perfectly balanced, it has remarkable handling qualities. It combines elegance and beauty in design, with the reliability, fire-power and accuracy that you would expect from one of the world's great gunmakers. The 520 receiver is enriched by a handsome floral engraving.

The Franchi 500. A most affordable model featuring a black engraved receiver, and a new gas system with a shorter, freer piston. Its smooth silent action and minimum recoil reduces fatigue.

How the Franchi automatics work so beautifully.

Gas tight cylinder. Such is the precision of machining that perfect seals are achieved without the use of gaskets.

Easier loading. A new Franchi system makes loading faster and easier.

Franchigas autos. before you can blink.

Isolated magazine. The magazine is completely isolated from the gas.

New improved system of gas expulsion. The spent gas used for loading is conveniently expelled through two vents located between the fore-end and the barrel.

Firing capacity. A Franchi automatic to normal specification fires up to 5 shots after reloading. An exclusive magazine extension will increase its firing potential to 7 shots.

Interchangeable barrels. A range of barrels is available offering various lengths and chokes. Thus the same gun can be used for different types of game.

It is also possible to fit an exclusive device, the 'Pluri-Choke', which varies the choke on demand, and is able to cover all the degrees necessary for field and competition shooting.

Ease of assembly. A Franchi automatic is composed of four main units:

1. stock and action, 2. barrel, 3. breech bolt and cocking rod, 4. fore-end. Disassembly and assembly is simple and requires no tools.

Proof. Every gun carries its own test certificate from the Italian National Proof House.

New South Wales Gun Club -Free Shoot: 22nd January

Blue Dot in conjunction with the New South Wales Gun Club held their free shoot on Sunday 22nd January at the Terry Hills Club grounds. The day began at 10 a.m. and finished late afternoon. There was no shortage of shooters and the idea of Free Shooting went down very well.

Particularly well patronised was the Trench Layout . . . Squad after squad chased the fluoro-red targets about the sky and several visitors from NSW country clubs had their first try at Trench ... Yes they do move fast those little red targets.

The day was organised with optional sweeps on events and Fred Rapley from Illawarra was always at the pay-out window. "A good day" said Fred.

All in all an enjoyable day which will be repeated in other states.

Highlight of an enjoyable Boxing Day Shoot was the exciting shooting of most promising fifteen year old Graeme Sturzaker. Graeme won 'C' Grade in the 100 target Boxing Day Championship with a remarkable score of 97-100. Later he contested a shoot off with eight other shooters and after keen competition from classy shooter, Peter Thurley, won this event with a score of 81-81. Graeme obtained a break badge of 100 over these two events. T. Smyth shot particularly well in winning the Skeet Handlcap. Congratulations to J. Murphy in winning High Gun 165-170.

Coaching Seminar at Mersey

Late in 1977, George Biggs was invited to present his "Gun fitting seminar" to members of Mersey Gun Club (Tasmania) together with visitors from surrounding Clubs. The exercise was most successful, particularly in view of the assistance given to novice shooters.

History · Perth Clay Target Club

by K. A. BARKER

The beginning of the Perth Gun Club (later Perth Clay Target Club) in its present location dates back almost 20 years and the Of-Club) in its present location dates back almost 20 years and the of-ficial Opening was in 1958. Prior to that the Club was established at Clontarf, where some elements of "Viv's" place at Cannington and the "Jandakot Boys" joined together, as well as a few members of the Lake Karrinyup Golf Club, to form quite an active club just prior to the 1939-45 War.

The facilities however at Clontarf were quite inadequate and continuous surveys were made for the establishment of a permanent home, ranging over the country from Rockingham to Lake Pinjar and even into the Avon Valley. The result was that the spot selected at the end of Koojan Ave. South Guilford was to be our permanent home, then part of a swamp on the northern approaches to Perth Airport. This land came up for sale and was purchased by the Club at a public auction.

The equipment at Clontart consisted of a very second-hand paymasters hut bought at a disposals sale at Cunderdin, a dilapidated skeet house, a trap or two, a mobile traphouse and a lighting plant. All this equipment was moved to the new ground. From then on substantial improvements were made. The swamp was bulldosed back to form a deck. The hut was established in its present location as a temporary headquarters and a plan of a modern clubhouse was drawn up by the late W. G. Bennett, an enthusiastic member architect.

About two years later the Club was informed by the Department of the Interior that the fringe properties of the Airport were to be re-sumed and asked to submit its claim for compensation. This at first seemed to be a staggering blow but as it turned out it was the best thing that ever happened. The Commonwealth Dept. did not want any housing in the area and neither did the Club. The claim for com-pensation was submitted and paid without question and a lease was granted to "form a Gun Club" with certain building restrictions that were easy to observe.

This happening gave the Club some financial security - oneeighth of the compensation was used for formation expenses and the balance invested. After some years under the Dept. of the Interior our landlord became the Dept. of Civil Aviation (now the Dept. of Transport) but this did not affect the Club in any way. At all times our Commonwealth landlords have been most helpful and considerate. They have given the Club every assistance, particularly in advising us of future developments that may have affected us and in dispelling rumours about what would happen to us when jumbo jets arrived!

The next target was to up-grade the Club in line for a National Championships, which is the major clay target event on the Australian program. Certain conditions were laid down, such as a five trap layout and skeet requirements, which sport W.A. did a lot to pioneer. An ambitious plan was drawn up which virtually doubled our capacity and involved manufacturing skeet houses in a mem-ber's factory. The plan was brought to completion and the result was that the Club was given the 1971 Nationals. This carnival was a great success and established the Club's capability of running a National Championships. The Club was again granted the Nationals in 1976 which was a magnificent combined exercise by all Clubs. It resulted in a financial success for the Australian Clay Target Assn., which was labouring under losses, and it established a blueprint for future National carnivals.

In 1970 the Club decided to change its name to the Perth Clay Target Club and also bring its constitution up to date. The main re-ason for dropping the word "gun" was to establish a better name for the sport, which tended to suffer from a misunderstanding in the eyes of the public. The first of the objects of the new amended Constitution relates to the promotion of the sport and the safe handling of firearms. In these respects the Club and all other clubs in the State have a good record. As for safety measures and gun handling, the rules of the National Body are rigidly observed. Other objects in the Constitution relate to construction of premises, liquor licence and the borrowing of money. The original Clubhouse is the property of the Commonwealth because it was on the ground when it was resumed, but all other buildings were constructed with Commonwealth approval and are removable under the terms of the lease.

The borrowing of money has never been a problem. The generosity of members by donations of material, magnificent contributions by manufacturers and the trade and the fact that at no time has any

In very tricky conditions, Ian Fratantaro shot the best expectant father score for some time, to win the overall stash with 55-60. The traditional RAAF Gun Club Point Cook took place in a typical Point Cook weather. Gone was the usual strong cold wind off the bay, but in its place came continuous rain, heavy at times. Despite the weather, however, the Christmas spirit helped to keep the damp out, and a good afternoons' shooting was had by all. Everyone got a prize, in the shape of a ham; with only the size affected by the score card. The top three shooters all scored 87-90, with the final places decided on count-back. Arthur Howden taking top honours. #### South Eastern Zone Team Shoot Report (Victoria)

The first round of S.E. Zone team shoot was held at the Mornington Club on 7-1-78. The weather conditions were perfect. The temperature was about 21 degrees with a very light wind. Twenty teams contested for the title of leading team, and Bob Whykes and his henchmen from Morwell finished in front with 188-200. The championship was won by Ron Garth (Frankston-Aust.) beating Ken Lowry (Melb.).

The Handicap was again a Frankston-Aust. victory. B. Faux ex-16 metre shooter winning the day from a young shooter, L. Smith. High Gun was taken out by L. Smith and Back Marker in Handicap by T. Rowe.

The day was an outstanding success with 115 shooters participating, doubling Mornington's biggest ever attendance. Now we journey to Bairnsdale for the next round.

(The Committee and Members of the Mornington Clay Target Club are to be commended on the way in which this match was conducted. Not one criticism was heard during the program and all competitors went home happy! Clubs hosting other rounds in this Inter-Club series have had a pretty hot pace set to match. --- Editor).

Teams' Matches Continue to Draw Big Crowds

Bairnsdale Field Sportsmen's Club was the venue for the second round of the S.E. Zone Teams' Premiership (Victoria) for 1978. The first round was held at Mornington Clay Target Club early in January and attracted 130° shooters. It was thought that as Bairnsdale is at the extremity of the Zone, a good attendance was unlikely. The prophets were wrong again! One hundred shooters attended the match (the second day of a two-day program) and tested the Club's facilities to the fullest extent.

As reported in Club News, John Leadoux the Club President had been badly burnt in a recent bush fire and was seriously ill in hospital. This threw a tremendous work load back on Acting President Dick Aukema and his willing band of Committee-men. There is only one word to describe the job the crew did — GREAT!

Being a Sunday (for the record, the date was February 5th) the first event did not start until right on noon, but by 5.30 p.m. 100 shooters had shot at 40 targets each, and all events and team placings had been resolved — not a bad effort for a Club which had not previously handled more than about fifty shooters.

Eighteen teams representing 10 Clubs entered and the teams' section was won by Morwell Gun Club for the second successive match, the score being 183/200. Equal second were the host Club Bairnsdale and distinct neighbour Werribee with 180/200.

The progressive scores, after two rounds are:

1st Morwell	371 pts
2nd Werribee	362 pts
3rd Bairnsdale	351 pts
4th Mornington	348 pts
5th Melbourne	344 pts
6th Frankston/Aust.	343 pts
7th Korumburra	337 pts
7th Victorian	337 pts (equal)
9th Metropolitan	306 pts

The Victorian Deauville Doubles Championship was the feature event on Saturday (4th February) and an attendance of 60 provided a great contest. The 1977 champion pair, Tony Bradshaw and Keith Saggers made the 200 miles trip to defend their title and enjoyed their second successive title by shooting the only perfect score.

It is encouraging for our newer shooters to find the more experienced shooters are prepared to travel in this way. Second place was filled by Tony Ferlazzo and Barry Brookes. Tony is President of Mornington Clay Target Club but had to "migrate" to Bairnsdale after damaging the new paint on a trap-house at his own Club only a week before. Tony will be "happy" to fill in the gaps in this story!

It is always dangerous to acknowledge individuals on these occasions as the success of the day depended so heavily on many shoulders but particular mention must be made of Dick Aukema who handled the job of Acting President as if he had been training for years; Ross Scott, a very enthusiastic and able shoot marshall; Maureen Daymond (whose ability on the scoreboard should be noted by other Clubs which will be acting as host later in the series); and Jan Crane and John Saunders, who worked so hard in the office. As evidence of the efficiency of the office staff, just twenty minutes after the last cartridge was fired, scores had been completed, team aggregate calculated, REGISTRATION CARDS FILLED IN, sweeps worked out and paid, and the trap boys had been paid. Phew! The National Office is considering producing a "Club Operations Manual" — maybe Jan and John should prepare it, they certainly know the recipe for getting the work done.

Bairnsdale Field Sportsmen's Association is a combined Club with interests spread between field shooting and conservation activities, and clay target shooting. One of its longest standing members is Jack Collins, whose assistance to the Club over a number of years has been recognised by the striking of a "Jack Collins Perpetual Trophy." This Cup was contested for the first time during this program, and was won by MELVIN MISSEN from Morwell, who was apparently a very proud person to have his name first on the trophy.

The Club is one of the Association's more progressive and its current development projects include a general membership drive, where a personalised approach is being made to known owners (and users) of shotguns, together with a well developed Junior Training Program. With this sort of enthusiasm being shown virtually from coast to coast, the Association MUST continue to thrive.

Results were:

Day 1 (Sat. 4th Feb.) — 60 shooters. Bairnsdale Double Rise Championship: 1st Sam Daymond 21-22, 2nd Andy Zarro 20-22, 3rd Lynne Curtis. Victorian Deauville Doubles Championship: 1st Tony Bradshaw and Keith Saggers, 2nd Tony Ferlazzo and Barry Brookes.

of the skilled members in their trades and professions ever charged for their time spent in construction and improvements. Only once has the Club owed more than current monthly trading accounts, when it was preparing for the 1971 Nationals. This temporary condition was amply covered by the Club investments at short call.

To summarise: -

The Club has a well established grounds within 10 kilometres of the Capital City. Its equipment is well up to modern standards. It has held two National meetings with considerable success and is now included in the annual roster.

It has a good track record for the promotion of the sport throughout the State and instruction in gun handling to hundreds of shooters.

The Club is an Incorporated body and is the Headquarters of the West Australian Clay Target Assn. and is financially secure.

Its members have for years been interstate competitors with considerable success, including inclusion in National teams. One member represented Australia in the Commonwealth Games at Christchurch, N.Z., for skeet and won a bronze medal.

The Club has had no Government or semi governmental aid.

The sport itself has a wonderful record of growth and co-operation with the police authorities and with wildlife organisations.

It is little known, as it is not a spectator sport, but it has established and well regulated clubs numbering approx. 20 all over the State.
